By DON HUTH

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — The Communists today turned down an Allied plan for exchanging war prisoners and civilians as "no more than a barter of slaves."

But a U. N. negotiator said he "rejected the categorical rejection of the Reds."

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho said he wanted no part of the Allied plan because it was "simply and solely on a one-for-one exchange." The Reds want an all-for-all trade.

Plan Misunderstood
Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said that was the end result of the Allied plan.

He refused to accept the Red rejection because they "either misunderstood our proposal or they are deliberately misinterpreting it in order to deliberately obscure the issues."

Libby indicated Lee might be waiting for new instructions.

He reiterated that the U. N. plans to return every prisoner of war who wants to be repatriated. He said the one-for-one exchange called for in the first two points of the Allied plan would control merely the rate of exchange—not the number of war prisoners and civilians ultimately traded.

Another subcommittee, dealing with truce supervision, remained deadlocked Thursday over Communist insistence on the right to build and repair military airfields during the armistice.

Meet Again Tonight
Both subcommittees will return to Panmunjom at 11 a. m. Friday (9 p. m. EST Thursday).

Under the Allies' plan offered Wednesday, prisoners of war would be exchanged on a man-for-man basis until all prisoners held by one side are turned back. Then the side still holding prisoners would trade them for civilians. When all prisoners were traded there would be a mass exchange of remaining civilians.

However, the Allies specified no one would be handed over against his will. The Red Cross would interview each one to make sure he wanted to be repatriated.

While the Allies held far more prisoners than the Reds, Libby said thousands of South Koreans serving in the Communist armies should be reclassified as war prisoners and exchanged.

Six Women Get Bail; Man With 10 Wives Skips

MESA, Ariz. — (AP)—Preliminary hearing for six women who claim they are the wives of an excommunicated Mormon has been delayed pending a study of an appeal by their attorneys to dismiss charges of open and notorious cohabitation.

The six women, all of whom claim George Meril Dutson as their husband, were freed on $500 bond each yesterday when they appeared before Justice of the Peace Jack Hunsaker.

Only One Talkative
Their attorneys, Aaron Kinney and Raymond Tipton of Phoenix, asked for dismissal of the complaints on grounds the date and place of the alleged offenses were not stated.

The women gave their names as Hilda Williams Dutson, 48; Arline Twister Dutson, 48; Lura Williams Dutson, 43; sister of Hilda; Hazel Doe Dutson, 55; Sarah Parkinson Dutson, 43; and Anna Merrill Dutson, 33.

Lura was the only one who was talkative. Bishop Wendel A. Davis of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon), had filed the charges against the women and a bigamy charge against Dutson.

Lura branded the signing of the complaints by Davis "as plain spite and jealousy." The others restrained her when she tried to say "a word or two" on their release from the Mesa jail after payment of their bonds.

Hunted In Three States
Dutson, charged with bigamy, is being sought in Arizona, Utah and Mexico.

So far as can be determined, authorities said, Dutson has done

Stubborn Danish Skipper Stays On Broken Ship

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON — (AP) — Capt. Kurt Carlsen was cooped up today in the cabin of his wallowing ghost ship while a new storm raging across the North Atlantic raised doubts that the damaged freighter could stay afloat until a salvage tug beats its way to the scene.

The fearless skipper, hailed by the British press as "Captain Enterprise," appeared more concerned about the suffering of his would-be rescuers than his own fate.

On Slim Diet

Carlsen, 37, who refuses to abandon his ship, the American freighter Flying Enterprise, is existing on a slim diet of tea and "bits of dried food," he informed the commander of the U. S. destroyer John W. Weeks, which is standing by.

"You fellows are taking a worse beating and are suffering more than I am," said the youthful skipper whose faithfulness to the tradition of the sea has stirred the imagination of millions.

The American destroyer radioed that "preparations have been made with Capt. Carlsen for rescue if required." It was the first indication that the doctory captain may not be able to stick out his lone, iron-man attempt to stay with the crewless ship. Its 10 passengers, one of them dead, and crew of 40 were taken off the ship last Friday and Saturday, but Carlsen refused to leave his vessel.

Can't Catch Line

For five nights the skipper kept this perilous vigil, rejecting all offers to remove him from the ship. At times the Enterprise lay at an angle of 80 degrees to the water—almost flat on her side.

Carlsen keeps in constant touch with the destroyer by radio-telephone. His one request was for hot coffee, meat sandwiches and magazines. Three attempts to deliver these items by messenger line failed. When a line is shot to him from the destroyer, his precarious position and the surging of the destroyer in the heavy sea prevents him from hauling the line.

Galloping Spook Performs In Home At Louisville, Ky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Sh-h-h-h!

The Henry Thacker family is waiting for its spook to perform again.

He already has sent a two-pound photograph album swirling through the air; floated a corn cob from the basement up to a ground-floor dining room; and sailed a ring box from one room to another.

Box Flies Around

These and other antics which began Sunday have attracted curious neighbors, one of whom said she had a painful encounter with the mystery.

Mrs. Robert Covington said she was standing near a dresser when a fingernail file struck her back with such force she felt a stinging sensation for several minutes.

A skeptical county patrolman, Russell McDaniel, waited six hours yesterday for the galloping ghost to appear. He didn't—but McDaniel said a cardboard box almost hit him. The box came from the dresser, hit the ceiling, then flew toward the officer.

Student Has Theory

His doubts somewhat shaken, McDaniel said he won't even consider the possibility of any supernatural power involved until he sees the flying objects leave their resting places.

So far, the only one reported to have seen an object actually take off is Walter Browns, 16-year-old student living with the Thackers. He said he watched Mr. Thacker's spectacles rise from a table unaided and jump about three feet into a chair.

After discussing it with his science class, the youngster advanced this theory—kinetic energy.

Sigler Claims Williams Can't Fire Col. Layle

LANSING — (AP)—Former Governor Kim Sigler has challenged Governor Williams' power to oust the state quartermaster general, Col. Herbert F. Layle.

Sigler, who appointed Col. Layle and is acting as his attorney in the ouster proceedings, filed a motion yesterday to dismiss charges of gross neglect of duty and malfeasance filed against Col. Layle.

Williams will hear the charges and defense Friday.

Sigler contended that Williams' constitutional power to remove a public or state official does not cover the quartermaster general and that only the legislature can discipline a member of the state militia.

Sigler appeared to be building a foundation for a state supreme court appeal in case Williams removes Col. Layle.

The 52-year-old quartermaster general is charged with arbitrarily refusing to pay proper pensions to five National Guard officers on the retirement list, with frustrating the governor's orders to mobilize the state troops, with collecting improper expense money, with failing to go through proper channels to secure legal advice, and with exceeding his authority in defending a National Guard officer against a traffic law violation charge.

Union Asks Moratorium
The new percentages, with present figures in parenthesis, would be:

General Motors, 41 percent (41.35); Chrysler, 21.3 (21.65); Ford, 21 (21.35); Studebaker, 4.13 (4.25); Nash-Kelvinator Corp., 3.45 (3.30); Hudson 2.93 (2.95); Packard, 2.09 (2.15); Kaiser-Frazer, 2.47 (1.55); Willys-Overland, 1.21 (1.00); Crosley, 21 (.35); Checker Cab Manufacturing Corp., .08 (10).

Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser told newsmen he was not satisfied with the increase given K-F.

Kaiser joined Walter Reuther, head of the CIO United Auto Workers in asking the government for a ninth-months moratorium on auto cutbacks. The re-land, he said, would permit automobile makers to retool for defense production and would also minimize the danger of unemployment.

None of the 30 others hurt, all bus and streetcar passengers were seriously injured. They were released after treatment.

Sanders, driving north on Woodward at the height of the evening rush hour, said he started to skid when traffic suddenly backed up for a red light at Chicago Blvd.

The bus swerved to the left, glanced off a halted car and plowed into the southbound streetcar.

The front end of the bus was caved back into Sanders' lap. Passengers were thrown forward and into the aisle. Police worked 45 minutes to pry Sanders loose from beneath the steering wheel.

Traffic was backed up for almost two miles and slowed to a crawl for an hour and a half by the accident.

Chicago Woman Who Was Frozen Stiff Gets Artificial Legs
CHICAGO — (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Mae Stevens, 25, Chicago's "frozen woman," received a pair of artificial legs yesterday from the Chicago welfare department.

Both Mrs. Stevens' feet and ankles were amputated last March. She had been found on Feb. 8 frozen stiff in an alley with a body temperature of 64 degrees, the lowest ever recorded for survival in medical history.

Mrs. Stevens, a Negro, has been confined to the welfare department's convalescent home since last August after spending six months in Michael Reese hospital.

Quotas Slashed Again For Auto Production

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government is going to cut the quotas of the big three car makers for the second quarter of this year.

This was disclosed yesterday following a meeting between representatives of car manufacturers and automotive experts of the Defense Production Administration (DPA).

Held To 1,000,000
Instead of the increases they requested, General Motors, Chrysler and Ford will get slightly less of the total production allowed from April through June.

Some of the independents—Kaiser-Frazer, Nash and Willys-Overland—will receive slight increases. DPA officials told the industrialists the figures could be appealed but that as of now they represented a firm decision.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson said a final decision on second-quarter allotments would be made Jan. 12.

For the first quarter of 1952, total production of new passenger cars will be held to 1,000,000 units. This is expected to be cut to 800,000 units for the second quarter.

Percentage ranking of manufacturers is based primarily on factory sales in 1947-49. They determine the basic allotments of controlled metals that go to each manufacturer.

Western Plan Leads To War, Says Vishinsky

Eleven Nations Act To End Aggression

By STANLEY JOHNSON

PARIS — (AP)—Soviet Russia, in a surprise move, proposed today that the United Nations Security Council intervene in the Korean armistice negotiations. It asked that both Korea and the lessening of world tensions be considered at a high level, possibly by foreign ministers or chiefs of state.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky submitted the proposal to the 60-nation political committee after a long speech denouncing a western collective action plan, and hinting ominously at events to come in southeast Asia.

Unacceptable To U. S.
The American delegation immediately frowned on the Vishinsky proposal. Pending official comment, U. S. sources said the Soviet resolution was unacceptable.

The American informants pointed out that the U. S. favors continuation of collective measures as an important factor in the U. N. efforts for peace. They said the call for a security council

Murder-Suicide Plunge Kills 2

VAN NUYS, Calif. — (AP)—Police today recorded the deaths of a milkman and his seven-year-old daughter in a plane crash here last Monday as murder and suicide.

Dets. W. L. Stapp and C. L. Nelson said a note found in the automobile of the father, Jay William Campbell, 31, and addressed to his wife, Mary, indicates he planned the death of their daughter, Judy, and himself.

Mrs. Campbell's father, Ralph C. Schutze of La Crescenta, told newsmen: "Mary had been contemplating going to Nevada for a divorce about two weeks ago." He said the couple apparently had patched up their differences and planned to sell their home and start anew in a new neighborhood.

Campbell's note to his wife directed her to reimburse the owner of the plane he rented before he buzzed his house and, while she watched, dived it to destruction in a schoolyard nearby.

"It seems that the price one has to pay for happiness isn't so easy to pay," Campbell's note read. "I have lost everything that you may start anew. You have also lost me and every part of me today, including Judy. Keep telling yourself that everyone gets over everything. It may help you, but I doubt it. I have always loved you even if you haven't loved me. Don't ever live a lie again. Your Jay and Judy."

The bus swerved to the left, glanced off a halted car and plowed into the southbound streetcar.

The front end of the bus was caved back into Sanders' lap. Passengers were thrown forward and into the aisle. Police worked 45 minutes to pry Sanders loose from beneath the steering wheel.

Bodies Removed From Air Wreck Site In Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Bodies of eight of the 28 persons killed Sunday in the crash of an Air Force C-47 have been removed from an Arizona mountainside and brought to a mortuary in Mesa, 16 miles east of Phoenix.

The eight bodies brought down the key side of 7,000-foot Amer mountain, 65 miles northeast of Phoenix were those of personnel most easily removed. Three days are expected to pass before all the bodies are removed.

An evacuation team of airmen, aided by Arizona cowboys, struggled up the mountain yesterday and found the mangled wreckage of the two-engine plane. The victims were 19 West Point cadets, four crew members and five other military passengers.

A team of identification experts from Wright Patterson Air Force base in Ohio arrived here late last night to aid in the work of identification.

So difficult is the task of gathering the bodies and evacuating them by pack horses down the mountainside, that it will probably be late this afternoon before additional bodies are brought to the Mesa mortuary.

Crippling Steel Mill Strike Unlikely, Head Of CIO Union Hints

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — (AP) — President Truman appealed to the CIO Steelworkers today to cancel their threat of an industry-wide strike.

Mr. Truman, in a message to the opening session of a specially-summoned union convention, applauded the unions decision to postpone a scheduled New Year's Day walkout and asked for a permanent postponement.

New Deadline Probable
The convention of more than 2,200 delegates was called to act on the matter. President Philip Murray of the CIO and the Steelworkers Union was prepared to recommend the further strike delay asked by the administration.

It was considered probable the union may set a new strike deadline, possibly mid-February. That would give the government's wage stabilization board time to hear and make recommendations on the union's 18½-cent average hourly pay boost demand.

Wayne Prosecutor On Spot In Tavern Campaign Fund Case

LANSING — (AP) — The Democratic-controlled State Liquor commission today virtually put Wayne county's Democratic prosecutor on the spot over his refusal to prosecute a former Democratic party fund raiser.

George J. Burke, commission chairman, said his chief investigator was instructed to offer to sign a complaint against George Hollman of Dearborn, who was accused by Burke of soliciting Democratic campaign funds from persons seeking liquor licenses from the commission.

Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien has refused to initiate prosecution of Hollman unless some outsider signs a complaint. He reportedly contended that Hollman could not be convicted because the campaign donors would not testify.

Burke said that the investigator, Al Gross, and Assistant Attorney General Franklin J. Rauner, would meet with O'Brien today to discuss issuance of a warrant for Hollman. Burke said he assumed the charge would be for some type of fraud or misrepresentation.

Burke first exposed last summer the charge that Hollman had solicited the funds and had approached him about liquor licenses for certain campaign donors on the argument that the Williams' administration wanted them issued.

Hollman was dismissed as a campaign worker after Burke's disclosure and Williams said that about $500 which Hollman turned in to the party treasury had been returned to donors

Atty. Frost Is Will Executor

Proceeds In Handling John Norton Estate

The qualifying of Atty. James E. Frost as executor of the estate of John P. Norton was followed by circuit court approval of a motion to name Atty. Frost executor in legal proceedings against Frank and George Lindenthal and the Delta Broadcasting company.

In probate court Atty. Frost qualified as executor of the Norton estate and Juel Lee declined to act as executor under the Norton will.

This required a motion by the executor in circuit court for the substitution of his name, rather than the names of Atty. Frost and Juel Lee as special administrators, in the proceedings for an accounting of the business of the Lindenthals and the Broadcasting company, operators of radio station WDBC.

Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson in a special session of Delta county circuit court today granted the motion which will permit the executor of the estate to proceed with the suit for an accounting. Objections to the motion were entered by Atty. Wheaton Strom, counsel for the Lindenthals and Delta Broadcasting company.

The suit for an accounting, pending in circuit court, is to determine what interest the Norton estate has in the broadcasting company. The late John P. Norton, founder of the Escanaba Daily Press, was a stockholder in and president of the broadcasting company at the time of his death in July, 1950.

Two Strong Points Retaken By Allies In Western Korea

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — Tank-supported Allied infantrymen attacked behind a thundering artillery barrage today and recaptured two strong points on the western front.

The sudden outbreak of fighting in Korea was ordered to retain ground lost to a Chinese assault Dec. 28.

Today's fighting was fierce, but brief.

The Eighth Army said attacking infantrymen were heavily engaged for an hour. Then two Red groups retreated and abandoned the strong points to the Allies.

The action was west of Korango, just south of the 38th parallel and about ten miles northeast of the true village of Panmunjom.

Three other small fights—all started by Red probes—were reported along the freezing 145 mile front. Two squad sized probes were tossed back on the central

Uranium Detected In Iron Formation Of Marquette Range

ISHPEMING, Mich. — (AP) — Discovery of uranium mineralization in portions of the upper Huronian iron formation of the Marquette Range, iron ore-producing region in Upper Michigan, has been made by a geologist of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. it was announced by L. P. Barrett, geological consultant for that concern.

Barrett said it was not possible to state at this time whether the uranium content will be sufficient to support mining operations. He emphasized, however, that the uranium content found is sufficient to warrant exploration to determine if commercial quantities are present.

cient to warrant exploration to determine if commercial quantities are present.

Samples Checked
Barrett said that radioactive samples collected during the 1951 season have been checked chemically by the New Brunswick laboratory of the U. S. Atomic Energy commission and the source of the radioactivity has been determined to be uranium.

Radioactivity in the iron formation has been found on the western Marquette Range, north of Champion and in the Gwin district. Most of the samples studied have come from abandoned mine dumps and because of inaccessibility of mine workings and lack of outcrops, little is known of the localization of the uranium in the iron formation. It is evident from studies made of a large number of samples that the uranium is not uniformly distributed through the iron formation, but is probably localized in certain horizons, Barrett said.

Low In Radioactivity
He emphasized that no uranium mineralization has been found in the main producing iron formation of the Marquette Range—the middle Huronian Negaunee iron formation. This iron formation and the iron ore that occurs in it are, in general, exceptionally low in radioactivity.

Further work is now in progress, Barrett said, to determine whether or not uranium mineralization occurs in the upper Huronian iron formation in other Lake Superior districts.

Farm Loans More Liberal

Limit Increased To $7,000

Delta County farmers cooperating with the Farmers Home Administration will be better able to make farm adjustments and increase production in 1952, Robert B. Abbott, FHA county supervisor, said today.

Small farmers who need supervised credit to reorganize their farming systems, add new enterprises, increase their livestock, and take other steps to work out a balanced system of farming, may now obtain loans up to $7,000 repayable in periods up to seven years.

Previously loans for production purposes were limited to $3,500 and the repayment period to five years.

No Change in Eligibility
Loans are available to buy farm equipment, livestock, fertilizer, and other operating necessities. Funds may be also obtained to make building repairs and clearing additional land up to $1,000. Each loan is based on a farm and home plan, which outlines how the farm family will make full use of its land and labor supply.

No change has been made in the eligibility requirements. Loans are still limited to farmers unable to get suitable credit elsewhere on reasonable terms, and an applicant may receive a loan only after the local county committee of three representative farmers certifies he is eligible.

In helping a farmer revamp his present farming set-up, Abbott said long-time operating credit, careful planning, and follow-up guidance in good farm practices are usually needed. All are provided in the FHA adjustment loan program.

Each borrower is aided in drawing up a long-time farm and home management plan. This plan may call for a number of improvements such as a better balance between crops and livestock, selection of enterprises better adapted to the land and family labor, adding of power and equipment for more efficient operation, enough operating capital to bring maximum net cash income, and higher yields per acre and per animal. Borrowers are aided in selecting better varieties of seed, and advised on proper fertilization of crops, pest control measures, improved care and feeding of livestock, methods of controlling livestock diseases and parasites and other practices essential for successful farming.

Drunk Driving Case Taken Under Study

Justice Henry Ranguette today took under advisement the case of Kenneth Lucas, 26, of 202 North 18th, following hearing on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Lucas was arrested by Escanaba police on July 23, 1951. Three officers testified for the prosecution and Lucas took the stand in his own defense.

Science Can Foretell Height Of Children

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—If you want to know how tall your child will be, science has a sure way of telling, beginning just before the teen years.

The method was explained by Dr. Nancy Bayley, Dr. Alta Gordon and Edward Bowes of the University of California institute of child welfare. They addressed a session of the 118th annual meeting of the American Association for the advancement of science.

The scientists reported they take X-ray pictures of the joints of hand, wrist and knee. The bone development at these three points, they said, tells a child's maturity better than any other available test. These connections at joints mature at various rates but never uniformly.

Begin At 8
The studies with X-ray begin at the age of 8. At about 12, these bones become a quite accurate predictor of the final height of a boy or girl.

Science is also on the way to new and better substitutes for the arms, legs and hands of amputees. Experiments are being made with electronics, hydraulics, suction and all the latest devices of engineering to improve substitute limbs.

The experiments were explained by Dr. Sidney Fishman, of New York University college of engineering. The work is done nationally by three teams of scientists, doctors, psychologists and engineers.

Teams of amputees, men chosen because of their success in using the common false limbs try the improved arms, legs and hands. If the new ones prove safe they go on a national trial by 100 amputees, usually arranged for by the veterans' administration.

If the new limb works for these 100 it is offered to everyone.

New Antibiotic
Dr. Fishman said that the medical men have to find out what muscles and other remnants of limbs can do. The psychologists have to encourage amputees in the long training. And the engineers have to give the doctors and psychologists workable substitutes for natural motions which will not be beyond what an amputee can learn.

A new antibiotic for tuberculosis was reported from the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., by Drs. E. W. Emmart and J. C. Keresztesy. It is called nocardin and comes from a fungus.

So far all tests have been confined to animals and test tubes containing human tuberculosis germs. The institutes are working on making the substance more potent. They did not predict what its human effects will be.

In another report to the association it was explained how our military scientists are using radioactive atoms to protect optical instruments—lenses, rangefinders, periscopes, cameras—from fungi. Tropical fungi spread chemicals which etch the glass. The radioactive material prevents fungi from growing. This report was made by Sigmund Berk of Frankford arsenal, Philadelphia.

Plan To Burn Holiday Trees

12th Night Will Be Saturday

To relieve Escanaba of the hazard of dried Christmas trees knocking about the back yard, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Twelfth Night burning of Yule decorations.

Trees will be gathered Saturday afternoon by the JCs and Boy Scouts and the burning will take place that night near the water tower. Twelfth Night, the traditional end of the Christmas season, marks the coming of the Magi to the stable in Bethlehem.

Townpeople are urged to place their trees and discarded holiday decorations in the nearest alley, off the roadway. If no alley is accessible, then the trees should be placed on the nearest street, not avenue, the JCs suggest.

City and volunteer trucks will pick up the trees but persons can take their Twelfth Night fuel to the water tower themselves for the Saturday night 8 o'clock burning.

Recruiters Invite Young Women To Join WAC And WAF

Young women between the ages of 18 and 35 who are high school graduates are invited to meet recruiters for the Women's Army Corps and the Women in the Air Force at the recruiting station in Escanaba, 1215 Ludington street.

Sgt. Marion J. Kurta and Cpl. Louise J. Owens will answer questions and provide information to those who are interested in joining either of the women's services.

More than 60,000 volunteers are needed in the WAC and WAF for thousands of critical jobs in this country and overseas. Progressive training and good pay in service and preparation for better jobs in civilian life are offered.

Equip Sheriff Cars With Radio

Department Also Gets New Auto

Recent acquisitions in operating equipment in the Delta county sheriff's department are a three-way car radio system and a new automobile.

The installation Saturday of the second radio message transmitter in one of the sheriff's office cars will complete the project that will enable Sheriff William E. Miron to direct cars while they are on the road and to know at all times their exact whereabouts.

The radio system makes possible communication between cars, from cars to State Police headquarters and from State Police to the cars. No line of contact between cars and sheriff's office was provided because of the ease of telephone communication between the office here and State Police headquarters which can relay and receive messages for the sheriff.

A new automobile, also acquired this week, will ease operations at the sheriff's office. The car

Atty. Frost's Will Executor

Proceeds In Handling John Norton Estate

The qualifying of Atty. James E. Frost as executor of the estate of John P. Norton was followed by circuit court approval of a motion to name Atty. Frost executor in legal proceedings against Frank and George Lindenthal and the Delta Broadcasting company.

In probate court Atty. Frost qualified as executor of the Norton estate and Juel Lee declined to act as executor under the Norton will.

This required a motion by the executor in circuit court for the substitution of his name, rather than the names of Atty. Frost and Juel Lee as special administrators, in the proceedings for an accounting of the business of the Lindenthals and the Broadcasting company, operators of radio station WDBC.

Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson in a special session of Delta county circuit court today granted the motion which will permit the executor of the estate to proceed with the suit for an accounting.

Objections to the motion were entered by Atty. Wheaton Strom, counsel for the Lindenthals and Delta Broadcasting company.

The suit for an accounting, pending in circuit court, is to determine what interest the Norton estate has in the broadcasting company. The late John P. Norton, founder of the Escanaba Daily Press, was a stockholder in and president of the broadcasting company at the time of his death in July, 1950.

SERVICE . . . MAN!—Master Sgt. Harry E. Whitaker of Appalachia, Va., recruited more men for the Army and Air Force than any other recruiter in the Chicago area. His reward was a weekend of luxury in a Chicago hotel for himself, his wife and baby daughter. As an added touch, Maj. O. T. Lowe, officer in charge of recruiting in the area, plays waiter for the Whitakers.

Uranium Detected In Iron Formation Of Marquette Range

ISHPEMING, Mich.—(P)—Discovery of uranium mineralization in portions of the upper Huronian iron formation of the Marquette Range, iron ore-producing region in Upper Michigan, has been made by a geologist of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., it was announced by L. P. Barrett, geological consultant for that concern.

Barrett said it was not possible to state at this time whether the uranium content will be sufficient to support mining operations. He emphasized, however, that the uranium content found is sufficient to warrant exploration to determine if commercial quantities are present.

Samples Checked
Barrett said that radioactive samples collected during the 1951 season have been checked chemically by the New Brunswick laboratory of the U. S. Atomic Energy commission and the source of the radioactivity has been determined to be uranium.

Radioactivity in the iron formation has been found on the western Marquette Range, north of Champion and in the Gwin district. Most of the samples studied have come from abandoned mine dumps and because of inaccessibility of mine workings and lack of outcrops, little is known of the localization of the uranium in the iron formation. It is evident from studies made of a large number of samples that the uranium is not uniformly distributed through the iron formation, but is probably localized in certain horizons, Barrett said.

Low In Radioactivity
He emphasized that no uranium mineralization has been found in the main producing iron formation of the Marquette Range—the middle Huronian Negaunee iron formation. This iron formation and the iron ore that occurs in it are, in general, exceptionally low in radioactivity.

Further work is now in progress, Barrett said, to determine whether or not uranium mineralization occurs in the upper Huronian iron formation in other Lake Superior districts.

NON-VOTERS
The residents of Hawaii and Alaska, like residents of the District of Columbia, cannot vote for president and vice president of the United States. Only states have representation in the electoral college.

Flodin Is Named Federal Reserve Class C. Director

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—F. A. Flodin, president of the Lake Shore Engineering company, Iron Mountain, Michigan, has been appointed a Class C director of the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis, it has been announced. Appointment was made by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve system, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Flodin will fill the unexpired term ending December 31, 1952, of the late W. D. Cochran, also of Iron Mountain, who died December 5.

The new director has been president of the Lake Shore Engineering company since 1938 when the Service and Supply company of Iron Mountain, with which he had been associated for many years, was merged with the Lake Shore Engine Works of Marquette, Michigan, to form the new company.

Mr. Flodin was born at Marquette, Michigan, attended school there, and graduated from Culver Military Academy, Culver, Indiana. He has been a resident of Iron Mountain since 1924. The new director is a member of the Board of Control of Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, Michigan, a director of Wellman Engineering company of Cleveland, chairman of the Upper Peninsula Advisory board for the Michigan State Department of Economic Development, and a former director of the First National Bank of Iron Mountain. He is married and has two daughters.

Class C directors, of which there are three on the nine-man directorate of each Federal Reserve bank, are appointed to represent the public interest in the Federal Reserve system.

Farm Loans More Liberal

Limit Increased To $7,000

Delta County farmers cooperating with the Farmers Home Administration will be better able to make farm adjustments and increase production in 1952, Robert B. Abbott, FHA county supervisor, said today.

Small farmers who need supervised credit to reorganize their farming systems, add new enterprises, increase their livestock, and take other steps to work out a balanced system of farming, may now obtain loans up to $7,000, repayable in periods up to seven years.

Previously loans for production purposes were limited to $3,500 and the repayment period to five years.

No Change in Eligibility
Loans are available to buy farm equipment, livestock, fertilizer, and other operating necessities. Funds may be also obtained to make building repairs and clearing additional land up to $1,000. Each loan is based on a farm and home plan, which outlines how the farm family will make full use of its land and labor supply.

No change has been made in the eligibility requirements. Loans are still limited to farmers unable to get suitable credit elsewhere on reasonable terms, and an applicant may receive a loan only after the local county committee of three representative farmers certifies he is eligible.

In helping a farmer revamp his present farming set-up, Abbott

Drunk Driving Case Taken Under Study

Justice Henry Ranguette today took under advisement the case of Kenneth Lucas, 26, of 202 North 18th, following hearing on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Lucas was arrested by Escanaba police on July 23, 1951.

Three officers testified for the prosecution and Lucas took the stand in his own defense.

The first clash between Italian and Ethiopian soldiers occurred at or near Wai Wai on the disputed frontier of Italian Somaliland Dec. 9, 1935.

Science Can Foretell Height Of Children

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—If you want to know how tall your child will be, science has a sure way of telling, beginning just before the teen years.

The method was explained by Dr. Nancy Bayley, Dr. Alta Gordon and Edward Boves of the University of California institute of child welfare. They addressed a session of the 118th annual meeting of the American Association for the advancement of science.

The scientists reported they take X-ray pictures of the joints of hand, wrist and knee. The bone development at these three points, they said, tells a child's maturity better than any other available test. These connections at joints mature at various rates but never uniformly.

Begin At 8
The studies with X-ray begin at the age of 8. At about 12, these bones become a quite accurate predictor of the final height of a boy or girl.

Science is also on the way to new and better substitutes for the arms, legs and hands of amputees. Experiments are being made with electronics, hydraulics, suction and all the latest devices of engineering to improve substitute limbs.

The experiments were explained by Dr. Sidney Fishman, of New York University college of engineering. The work is done nationally by three teams of scientists, doctors, psychologists and engineers.

Teams of amputees, men chosen because of their success in using the common false limbs try the improved arms, legs and hands. If the new ones prove safe they go on a national trial by 100 amputees, usually arranged for by the veterans' administration.

If the new limb works for these 100 it is offered to everyone.

New Antibiotic
Dr. Fishman said that the medical men have to find out what muscles and other remnants of limbs can do. The psychologists have to encourage amputees in the long training. And the engineers have to give the doctors and psychologists workable substitutes for natural motions which will not be beyond what an amputee can learn.

A new antibiotic for tuberculosis was reported from the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., by Drs. E. W. Emmart and J. C. Keresztesy. It is called nocardin and comes from a fungus.

So far all tests have been confined to animals and test tubes containing human tuberculosis germs. The institutes are working on making the substance more potent. They did not predict what its human effects will be.

In another report to the association it was explained how our military scientists are using radioactive atoms to protect optical instruments—lenses, rangefinders, periscopes, cameras—from fungi.

Tropical fungi spread chemicals which etch the glass. The radioactive material prevents fungi from growing. This report was made by Sigmund Berk of Frankford arsenal, Philadelphia.

The boyhood home of John Howard Payne who wrote "Home Sweet Home" is preserved in East Hampton, N. Y.

Plan To Burn Holiday Trees

12th Night Will Be Saturday

To relieve Escanaba of the hazard of dried Christmas trees knocking about the back yard, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Twelfth Night burning of Yule decorations.

Trees will be gathered Saturday afternoon by the JCs and Boy Scouts and the burning will take place that night near the water tower. Twelfth Night, the traditional end of the Christmas season, marks the coming of the Magi to the stable in Bethlehem.

Townpeople are urged to place their trees and discarded holiday decorations in the nearest alley, off the roadway. If no alley is accessible, then the trees should be placed on the nearest street, not avenue, the JCs suggest.

City and volunteer trucks will pick up the trees but persons can take their Twelfth Night fuel to the water tower themselves for the Saturday night 8 o'clock turning.

Recruiters Invite Young Women To Join WAC And WAF

Young women between the ages of 18 and 35 who are high school graduates are invited to meet recruiters for the Women's Army Corps and the Women in the Air Force at the recruiting station in Escanaba, 1215 Ludington street.

Sgt. Marion J. Kurta and Cpl. Louise J. Owens will answer questions and provide information to those who are interested in joining either of the women's services.

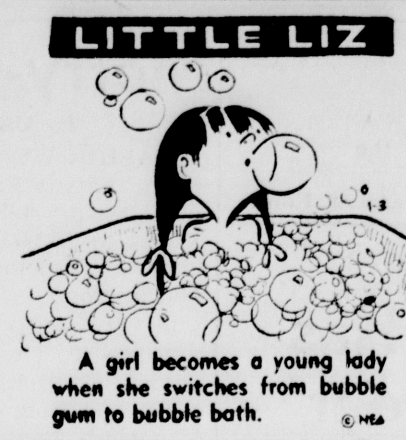

More than 60,000 volunteers are needed in the WAC and WAF for thousands of critical jobs in this country and overseas. Progressive training and good pay in service and preparation for better jobs in civilian life are offered.

Equip Sheriff Cars With Radio

Department Also Gets New Auto

Recent acquisitions in operating equipment in the Delta county sheriff's department are a three-way car radio system and a new automobile.

The installation Saturday of the second radio message transmitter in one of the sheriff's office cars will complete the project that will enable Sheriff William E. Miron to direct cars while they are on the road and to know at all times their exact whereabouts.

The radio system makes possible communication between cars, from cars to State Police headquarters and from State Police to the cars. No line of contact between cars and sheriff's office was provided because of the ease of telephone communication between the office here and State Police headquarters which can relay and receive messages for the sheriff.

A new automobile, also acquired this week, will ease operations at the sheriff's office. The car

Truman's Health Commission Has Political Odor In Election Year

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S creation of a new commission to study the nation's health needs apparently is the start of another presidential campaign for some form of socialized medicine in the United States. In creating the commission of 15 prominent lay and professional persons, President Truman particularly directed the group to look over his own proposals which Congress so far has ignored.

Inasmuch as this is a presidential election year, Mr. Truman may see some possibilities that the commission will give him some ammunition to blast away once more on behalf of his pet compulsory national health program.

Specifically, the president asked the commission to study a number of health problems. Included among them are the adequacy of private and public programs designed to provide ways to pay for medical treatment and how much the government should contribute to local governments for health purposes.

Mr. Truman's health proposals have found little support in Congress and even less among the medical profession of the nation. The American Medical Association has led the fight against Mr. Truman's socialized medicine scheme.

The suspicions that have developed in this latest move of the president in creating the health commission is that Mr. Truman hopes to make use of interim reports for campaign purposes. The commission will probably not complete its study and make a full report for a year but partial reports may be made from time to time.

Actually, there is small chance that the presidential program will be enacted. Mr. Truman knows this, too, but the commission's activities may provide just the momentum that the president may desire to make a campaign issue. If nothing else, he may see in it a chance to divert the public's attention from the real issue of the 1952 election—the corruption and immorality in federal government.

Self-Employed Must Pay Security Tax

THE Bureau of the Census recently conducted a poll of self-employed persons and found that two out of three either do not know that they are subject to the social security law or have the idea that the social security tax is optional.

The truth of the matter is that the tax is compulsory for most of the nation's self-employed who earn $400 or more a year. Farmers are exempt, as are most professional people, but all others are required to pay 2 1/4% of their net earnings up to $3,600. The maximum tax thus is $81 and must be paid by March 15. The payment is made to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, not the Social Security Administration, and can be made on the same form used for filing income tax returns.

If you are not a farmer, doctor, lawyer, osteopath, architect, optometrist, chiropractor, licensed accountant, funeral director, clergyman or professional engineer, but are otherwise self-employed, you are compelled to pay the tax. And, of course, you are starting to build a credit for old age retirement pension.

It is essential that before filing the tax return the self-employed subject to the tax should file with the local social security office for a social security number and card. Only in this way can the social security office properly credit your tax payments to your social security account.

These changes in the law were made with the social security law revision of 1950. They were made applicable for 1951 and, of course, the tax is due by March 15, 1952.

A START AT 91 (Christian Science Monitor)

Peter Ptuchin is a former Cossack who fought in half a dozen wars with the Czarist army down to the Russian Revolution in 1917. He since has lived in Yugoslavia, Austria, and Germany. Now he has come to the United States to join his son in Freehold, N. J.

At the Tolstoy Foundation in New York he declared enthusiastically he intended to become an American citizen—although he now is 91 and will be about 97 by the time the naturalization process is finished.

In America he will have the company of other energetic oldsters. Such as the Atlanta octogenarian who had "never been sick a day" but took time out to patch up his shoulder after he fell out of a tree. Or Mrs. Mary O'Neill of Berwick, Pennsylvania, who only at the age of 113 decided to move off the side of a hill to save herself the steep climb. Or a woman in Oklahoma who, in her sixties, answered suggestions that she should retire by going out and starting her own business.

But to get back to Mr. Ptuchin. He says in effect, "What's a mere 97?" He fully expects to break 100, because his grandfather lived to the age of 143, at which time he was still pitching hay.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS (Sault Ste. Marie News)

One of the hardest working groups in Sault Ste. Marie is an organization of men and women, which has a specific aim in life and tackles its job without fanfare, and seeks no self-credit.

This group is the Sault organization of Alcoholics Anonymous. As the name implies, it seeks to complete its task of rehabilitation of persons who are cursed with the drink habit, without thumping the drums and telling the world about its deeds.

We have information that this group has performed an invaluable service for a number of local residents. Through its tireless efforts many a person has been able to restore his self-respect and has reassured his rightful place in the community. The local group, we understand, has extended its activities to nearby communities and the good works it generates are reflected in the entire area.

We are proud of Alcoholics Anonymous, because minor setbacks in its work are not taken as defeat. It tackles the problems of its members with renewed vigor every time an obstacle is met, and the results show a high degree of success. Keep up the good work, AA.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—In 1934 a Communist doctor named Emil Weil was arrested in Budapest for subversive activities and sentenced to 15 years in jail. Sixteen years later he became Hungarian minister to Washington.

In between he had attained a position of supreme trust within the Communist government, so that when it came to forcing a confession from the greatest church leader of eastern Europe, Cardinal Mindszenty, this doctor-diplomat was chosen to administer the drug.

From thoroughly reliable refugees once high-up in the councils of their country comes this story of the Hungarian minister to the United States who helped to force the famed, phony confession from Cardinal Mindszenty.

Last week, while Hungary was gouging ransom money from us for the return of four American fliers, Dr. Weil sat serenely in Washington protected by diplomatic immunity.

The story begins following Dr. Weil's incarceration in Margit Korut prison. There he was permitted to work as a doctor and as such was given special privileges which he could have used to help other members of his faith. During part of this time, Hungary was under Hitler and Hungarian ails were filled with anti-Nazis. Dr. Weil, however, remained aloof. He did not want to focus attention on his Communist past.

DOCTORS ADOPT COMMUNISM

Ten years later, when the Red army swept through Rumania and occupied Hungary at the end of World War II, Dr. Weil found himself in a position of great power. As one of the early members of the Communist party, he became the leading doctor in the new Communist government, and immediately took over the Budapest Chamber of Doctors—Hungarian counterpart to the American Medical Association.

He reorganized it into the "Doctors' Union," surrounded himself with former Nazis and appointed a medical commission to pass judgment on the conduct of Budapest doctors during the Nazi occupation. Dr. Weil himself headed this commission.

Significantly the commission dealt the most severe sentences to doctors who had fought both Communism and Nazism. Doctors who had become Nazis but later joined the Communist party were let off lightly. Some of them were given sentences then tipped off that it might help if they would see Dr. Weil. And after waiting days in his outer-room for an audience with the U. S. Communist doctor of Hungary they were told to join the Communist party.

Thus many members of the faculty of medicine of the University of Budapest who had become Nazis were blackmailed into becoming Communists.

Dr. Weil, who is Jewish, apparently did not care how passionately they had embraced the anti-Semitism of Hitler. Meanwhile anti-Nazis and democrats who had resisted the Nazi regime were brutally ousted from the medical faculties.

WEIL'S WIFE

Dr. Weil's wife, Dr. Susan Lechner, worked as a radiologist at the Jewish hospital in Budapest, where her intimate friend, Dr. Catherine Winkler, had long served on the same staff.

During the Nazi occupation Dr. Winkler was deported to Auschwitz prison camp where she died, and after the war her apartment with its furniture was put up by the Communist government for sale.

Whereupon Mrs. Weil, the close friend of Dr. Winkler, appeared at her friend's apartment to pick up some of the choice paintings. The maid, remembering Mrs. Weil as a guest, remonstrated that she was "stealing the things of my poor lady who was burned in Auschwitz." To which Mrs. Weil replied: "Your employer has become a vile traitor, an agent of the imperialists."

Mrs. Weil is now in Washington enjoying the free furnishings of the Hungarian legation and the privileges of diplomatic immunity.

As the most powerful political doctor in Hungary, Dr. Weil also bargained in on the exit of Hungarian Jews and reaped a profit from their misery. Hungary had agreed to permit 3,000 Jews to migrate to Israel, but the Israeli government wanted a lung X-ray of each immigrant. Dr. and Mrs. Weil wangled a deal whereby they were the only ones authorized to take the X-rays. They charged 100 florins per picture, and cleaned up 30,000 florins.

Lopsided Men Just Don't Impress This Fellow

U. S. Has To Start All Over Again With Military Government Schools

By PETER EDSON

LONDON—(NEA)—Brig. Gen. Julius Holmes, now U. S. Minister-Counselor at the U. S. Embassy in London, tells the story of how the United States got into the field of military government during World War II.

It has an important bearing on one of the major U. S. responsibilities today, which is in finding good and competent men who can work with foreign governments in developing their rearmament programs.

The United States has no West Point for training diplomats. And such "pro-consuls" as it does develop have to learn their lessons the hard way, by bitter experience.

It was like that in World War II, according to General Holmes. After the conclusion of the African campaign, General Eisenhower received a directive from the Chiefs of Staff to take Sicily. The plan for the military campaign was all worked out in detail. And then General Holmes, who was on Eisenhower's staff, raised the question, "What are we going to do with it after we get it?"

Everybody looked up in amazement and asked General Holmes what he meant. Well, he explained, here was a good-sized island with a lot of people on it. They had to be fed, the police and fire departments had to be run, and so on.

"You do that," said General Eisenhower.

"In addition to my other duties?" asked General Holmes.

"Yeh," said Ike.

And so the idea of military government was born. General Holmes sent scouts into the African towns to see if they could buy copies of Baedeker's guide to Italy, and any other books on Sicily. They came back with two. They served as the basis for seeing what the geography of the place was, and how it had been governed.

When General Holmes had figured out what the Army would do with Sicily after was taken, he flew to Washington with his plans and got them approved. Two days later Maj.-Gen. John M. Hildring was assigned by General Marshall, then Chief of Staff, to open a military government school at University of Virginia. And so the U. S. got into the business.

At the end of the war, however, the school was allowed to die, and all the civilians who had been recruited as military governors were mustered out of the army. So now the job has to be done all over again.

Latest Con Game

BERLIN—American G. I.'s and the smart Germans who aren't above making a fast buck at the expense of the Russian soldiers have a neat racket in the watch business. Not having had much experience with wrist watches, it has taken the Russians some time to learn that the more jewels a watch has, the higher its price should be.

So the racketeers take nail polish and dab up the bearings on any old watch they can get hold of. They open up the case, flash the works and say,

"See. Twenty-one jewels."

Jeeps Create Problem

BRUSSELS—One of the toughest standardization problems that European armies are trying to solve is on jeeps. There are now five different kinds of jeeps being manufactured, and none of them has completely interchangeable parts with the original American models.

A contract to assemble 2500 jeeps in a Belgian factory has just been let. It will use components shipped in from the U. S., Britain

January Sunrise

We take the wonders of the natural world for granted. Earth on its tilted axis swings around its sun; the seasons roll by in a profound rhythm; and sunrise and sunset are part of each day's familiar routine. A year, by man's calendar, has recently ended and a new year has begun. But on the Master Chart there is no such arbitrary division of time; days blend into seasons and the seasons fulfill the plan of Nature. We call the winter landscape the simplest of all and think changes are halted for a period. But in Nature there is no such thing as a hiatus in the seasons; in heart of winter he who is tuned to the symphony of Year hears frost working its magic, sees the gleam of thousand solar systems, on a clear, cold night and hears the wind playing its haunting melodies.

One of winter's experiences is to stand on a height at sunrise when fresh snow gives beauty to the hills. Before the red arc of the rising sun appears above the horizon, slender fingers of gold, amber and silver reach high to reef in Night's curtain. Just before the sun appears there is often a beautiful, horizon-high canvas of blues, purples and violets, with lacings of scarlet, glowing chestnut browns and deep maroons.

As the sun lifts, first slanting rays paint a picture of silver, pewter and steel-gray hues. Fences and barns, silos and barways are starkly revealed. Then the gray thins and the light rays reflect jewel gleams in the snow. Look into the heart of a snow-sculptured drift when the sun is a bit above the horizon. In that bank of snow are many glow colors: ambers and golds, purples and pinks. There is no other time of day or year when Earth's softer colors are so vibrant as at a January dawn. Soon the sun lights the panes of farm house windows across the valley; it glistens on the church steeple in the village. Smoke spirals upward from homes. A January sunrise is over, but he who has watched it painted, has a picture to keep in the heart.

Other big issues before the assembly include ratification of the Schuman plan and agreement on incorporation of German troops units in a European army. The present French government may try to present all these programs in a single package, as the French national defense plan.

Socialism in Turkey
ANKARA—While nobody hates the Russian more than the Turks, there is little realization of how completely socialized the Turkish economy is. Farms and most small businesses are privately owned.

But the government owns and operates all the major industries, including railways, coal mines and even the building which for centuries has housed the famous Istanbul bazaar.

The government is even building the new hotel which it hopes will attract many more tourists to Turkey. But the plan is to sell this property to a private operator, once it is built.

One of the major side-line efforts of Marshall Plan mission in Turkey has been to convince the government that it should do more to develop private industry, and divest itself of much of the 70 per cent of Turkish business which it now controls.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

NOT THE WORST—Americans are not the worst drivers in the world despite National Safety Council figures showing more than 1,000,000 traffic fatalities in the United States since the automobile came into being.

Although fewer in number in other countries, automobiles account for a considerable number of deaths each year in foreign countries. And so far as reckless driving is concerned, Americans are not the only ones to violate the safety rules.

Chatting with William "Bill" Karas, superintendent-engineer of the Delta county road commission, we learned that Europe and North Africa have their speeders also. In Italy during World War II with U. S. Army Engineers, Bill Karas found Italian motorists hard to control.

"A bridge had been damaged and we found it necessary to slow the speed of traffic on it to reduce vibration," Karas recalled. "The Italian drivers didn't believe in signs, so we placed barricades alternately along the length of the bridge, jutting half-way out into the road from each side. This set up a snakelike course—but the Italians still tried to use it for a race track."

HORN AND FOOT—Polite Americans who think that some other Americans are impatient motorists should visit Algiers, Karas suggests.

Most of the automobiles in that North African country are owned by the French, who drive with one hand on the horn and the other on the gas pedal.

Streets and highways are narrow and crowded with pedestrians, but this concerns the motorists not at all. They go racing along at top speed, horn tooting, scattering the natives in all directions. Karas reported.

And a few traffic fatalities among the natives is a small consequence to the French, so far as Karas could observe.

BEDLAM IN PARIS—Among the capital cities of Europe, Paris is perhaps best known for its wild-eyed and wilder-driving cab men. Travelers often comment on the apparent destructive intention of the taxi drivers after a visit to Paris.

Traffic in London is more orderly, but confusing to the American because of the left-hand course of the vehicles.

In Berlin at the present time it appears to be the "crazy Americans" in the U. S. occupation forces who are causing most of the talk in traffic circles.

The recent story of the two U. S. Army men who, with two fraillies in company, drove a jeep through a barricade into the Russian zone indicates the American proclivity for speeding.

BUT NOT RUSSIA—While the iron curtain effectively closes usual avenues of information about auto traffic fatalities in Russia, it can be assumed that it poses no problem for the followers of Mr. Stalin.

Reason is the virtual absence of automobiles for the common man. Plus the reported inability of the Russians to keep machines operating.

Col. John Kelly of Manistique, speaking some time ago to the Escanaba Rotary club, compared the U. S. and Russian war preparedness programs and cited the Russian's failure in maintenance of mechanized equipment as a definite advantage to the U. S.

Outside of the Russian military, however, the average Soviet civilian fails to recognize the importance of keeping oil in the crank case of a motor or water in the battery.

COUNTRY OF MECHANICS—While the older generation of Americans may look upon the "hot rod" teenagers with alarm, these youngsters in the field of automobiles are tilling the proving ground for a thorough education in mechanics.

Most young Americans can drive an auto, know something about its proper care, and are often more expert at fixing over a jalopy into a running vehicle than are their fathers.

In this regard the United States has a wealth of raw material valuable to its future in a mechanized world.

Hundreds of young farm boys can expertly operate and maintain tractors and trucks.

In these young people is a natural resource possessed by no other country in the world. They may be inclined to speed when it is not essential and to recklessness rather than caution—but on the whole they are no worse than the daredevils of an earlier day who raced in autos and hopped the Atlantic solo by plane.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

For some strange reason each time I see the word "gazebo" I am amused by it. It looks artificial, as if some joker had made it up, like Lewis Carroll's "jabberwock" in "Alice in Wonderland." But "gazebo" (pronounced wuh-ZEE-bo) has been in the language for at least two hundred years and is in good standing, especially among architects.

Just what its origin was is in doubt. The term is used as a name for a small summer house so placed in a garden as to command a pleasant view, a belvedere (BEL-vuh-DEER). Or the gazebo may be a turret on a roof, or even a balcony or bay window. Whatever the structure, it should be so placed as to look upon a pleasant scene.

Probably the word was humorous to begin with. There is a Latin word, "lavabo" (luh-VAY-bo), often repeated in certain church rituals, which means "I will wash," and it seems likely that someone, perhaps the first one to build himself such a summer house, was actually a joker, and took the ordinary word "gaze" and added the Latin ending "bo" to it, thereby making "gazebo," with the idea, "I will gaze, or look at." And others took his name for such structures.

A Missouri judge ruled it okay for a wife to go through her husband's pockets while he was asleep. In most cases, he should get up and help her hunt.

Some men are homeless and others are home less than others.

We Must Cope With Communist Kidnapers

NOW that we have paid over to the Hungarian brigand government the sum of $120,000 in ransom for four American fliers, it is necessary that the government of the United States issues notice in unmistakable language that we do not intend to tolerate repeat performances of this extortion racket.

We have already applied a form of pressure against the Hungarians by denying American tourist trade to Hungary and by closing consulates. How successful these pressures will be remains to be seen. Economic penalties against Czechoslovakia have not brought about the release of William Oatis, AP reporter held by the Red Czechs.

Certainly in the case of Hungary, every pressure that can be applied to show our reaction to the kidnap ransom racket should be exerted. If we fail to do so, we are only inviting the Hungarians—and other Communist governments—to feast again on the extortion racket.

Gordon Martin's Rhyme

A FRIEND

If you have no wealth to offer, if you have no funds to give, you can still be friends with other men and really learn to live. If you haven't any pull that gets another man a job, or the kind of social standing that would label you a snob, still you've got the right to be a friend to other folks in need, and you prove it every time you do a good and kindly deed.

If you have no golden palace, if you have no shiny car, you can be a friend to anyone, no matter where you are. If you have no flashy medals, if you haven't won renown, you can offer understanding to most everyone in town. And if you can count a lot of men who know your family worth, then I think that you will be among the richest men on earth.

Ruark Issues An Award List

Mrs. Merl Young
Is Best Dressed

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—We have already failed miserably in our duty to the customers by not writing a poem for Christmas consumption, in which to backslap friends and appease creditors, and have allowed 1952 to sneak in without the customary list of superlatives so dear to the final days of the expiring year. This we propose to remedy immediately.

It would seem the time has come to oust the Duchess of Windsor and the other steadies from the best-dressed ladies list. My nominee is Mrs. Earl Young, the $9,000 mink-coat lady, whose ever-loving figure in the RFC hearings. Certainly, she rates the nod over Mrs. T. LaMar Caudle, that sweet thing whose mink only cost $4,200, and was instrumental in getting poor papa canned from the tax prosecution end of the Justice department. Possible runner-up might be Lili St. Cyr, the stripper, whose insufficient clothing was subject of legal controversy on the west coast. Lili made Life magazine, though, which some girls figure is sufficient coverage.

Tallahassee Rates Second

On the record, Harry Truman would have to qualify as the best-dressed president of the United States—currently in office, that is. Some may criticize his sports-wear as a trifle too sedate for a president but no living fashion critic can say that a double-breasted blue suit is not set off admirably by a white Texas-type sombrero and a cane. As place-horse to Mr. Truman in the men's-clothing sweepstakes, I must offer Tallulah Bankhead. Some say she owns a skirt, but all I ever saw her wear is slacks.

There was some bitter argument over candidates for the most likely-to-succeed list. The deadlock was finally broken in favor of Virginia Hill, the mysterious lady to whom gentlemen have long given money when she asked for it. From the record Miss Hill will never know want—not so long as she keeps her own counsel and shuns the garulousness that earned poor Willie Moretti the finest funeral we are likely to see for sometime.

In the field of arts, we were able to award Miss Samia Gamal, of Egypt, the palm for outstanding work in interpretive dancing. Miss Gamal, a fringe-swisher of cooch-dancer, wiggled her way into the affections of Master Sheppard King of Texas, who was so moved he changed his name to Abdullah and forthwith embraced the Moslem faith. Then he embraced Miss Gamal. This proves that the way to a man's heart is not necessarily through his own stomach.

An Award For Bogart
Still enmeshed in the arts, we found Miss Barbara Peyton, the object of so many affections, to be the year's outstanding actress. Miss Peyton's dramatic abilities so enslaved the Messers. Franchot Tone and Thomas Neal that Mr. Neal was moved to bust Mr. Tone's patrician beak. In retaliation, Mr. Tone kicked a lady in the shins and then spat in her eye. Hollywood, this past year, seemed richer in culture than at any time since the halcyon days of Fatty Arbuckle.

Most intrepid-explorer award was shared by Humphrey Bogart and Katharine Hepburn. They went to Africa to make a picture together, and both returned alive. How, nobody knows.

From now on the awards must be capsule, due to lack of space. Prettiest name—Greasy Thumb Guzik, the crime commission witness.

Most-willing taxpayer—Frank Costello, the civic leader.

Most-retiring public servant—Former Mayor William O'Dwyer, who retired to Mexico when the New York pavement got too hot for his feet.

Most-reticent singer—Harry Gross, the bookmaker, whose voice failed him at a crucial moment in court, causing the D. A. to weep bitterly.

Prettiest convicted spy-at-large—Judith Coplon.

Most-honest sport—Basketball. We do not include crapshooting, which is illegal.

TOP FEATURE SHOT—Edward Nold, who has worked behind a camera for 15 years, took this picture (titled Easter Dreams) which was judged best in the feature class for 1951. He is with The Detroit Times. His prizewinner was made when he was off duty and decided on trying to set up a good Easter feature for his paper. Subject was his "favorite daughter" (his other child is a boy), Marde Lee, 4. The duck is real. Nold got it to sleep by feeding and placing it near some warm air. He used a 4x5 Graphic, super pan type B film, 100 seconds at 16.

Whimsy Flavors State Outdoor Scene In 1951

LANSING—Daffy doings seasoning the Michigan outdoor bill-of-fare in 1951:

The millions and millions of caterpillars which dramatically striped eastern Upper Peninsula trees and slowed down highway traffic, but finally ate themselves out of house and home:

The turtle pulling a cigar box wagon loaded with onions, carrots and radishes which proved to be a show stopper at a children's pet parade at Gladwin state park.

Peru fishermen who are catching lake trout with Michigan ancestors because of the successful introduction of New York and Michigan trout a few years ago:

The frustrated Drummond island partridge, which, flailing away at suspected courting competition in the motor's hum coming from under the hood of Forest Fire Officer Oscar Toivanen's car, ended up with a bum leg, missing tail feathers and presumably frayed nerves:

The freak collision of Beulah's Glen Starkey who was on his way to work when an adult doe jumped over his motorcycle but the fawn did not make it:

The surprising number of trout fishermen revealed in a survey as fort—Price stabilization.

Man of the year—Gen. Harry Vaughan.

not knowing the difference between one trout and another:

The predicament of Roscommon area ducks when construction men worked all day building a dam which would create duck water and sabotaging beaver worked all night to destroy it:

The near-record travel of a tagged rainbow which migrated some 345 miles from the Upper Peninsula's Black river as far south as the Detroit river before being caught by pickered fisherman Clifford Dasher of Melvindale:

The 96-year-old Ewart resident, Luther Moody, still spry enough to prove to be Michigan's oldest active deer hunter:

Fennville area geese which were not adverse to sticking around and putting on a show for the spectators after the hunting season:

The tourist promotion stunt of the East Tawas Chamber of Commerce which sort of backfired when the "fishing pox" warning posters actually scared some vacationers away:

The Order of Deodorized Skunks of Detroit, latest fanciful club to visit the Rochester-Utica state recreation area:

The search conducted by Ernest Botke Jr., Pinckney recreation area manager, for a history textbook lost by a University of Michigan student apparently more enamored of Helen of Troy than local bathing beauties near at hand:

Kingsford Man Died Of Blows On Head In Jail, Expert Believes

KENOSHA, Wis.—(AP)—A professor of neuro-surgery today testified that the death of a county jail prisoner in 1949 "apparently was the result of two solid impacts on the skull."

Dr. David Cleveland of Marquette University took the stand as a coroner's jury resumed an inquest into the death of Edward Lahti following a 13-day recess.

Lahti, of Kingsford, Mich., was found dead in his jail cell, July 11, 1949, lying on his bed with his hands crossed on his chest.

Dr. Cleveland declared that it was "nearly impossible" for a man injured as was Lahti to "fall down, get up, fall down, regain consciousness and then get up again." Gov. Kohler has suspended Dist. Atty. Urban J. Zievers who had been named by a grand jury in four counts of neglect of duty. One of the counts involved failure to investigate Lahti's death.

Western States Dig Out Of Snowdrifts

(By The Associated Press)

Western states today (Thursday) are crawling out from under the paralysis of a three-day snowstorm and sub-zero spell that marooned motorists, tied up rail traffic and took three lives in Colorado. Another two are missing after the cab of a semi-trailer was swept off snow-packed Wolf Creek pass in southwestern Colorado in a snow slide.

Rescuers last night used snow plows, sleds and snowshoes to bite through eight-foot deep banks of snow and rescue 21 men marooned for more than five days in meeting has been made without response from the Russians, who would not recognize Nationalist China as a member of the council.

Western Plan Can Lead Only To War, Vishinsky Claims

The Americans said that since the Soviets have veto power in the council, it would be useless to bring the Korean armistice negotiations to that body, adding that the place for successful conclusion of such talks is in Korea, with the veto-free general assembly deciding later on a political settlement.

Trouble Ahead In Asia. The Soviet suggestion was offered to counter the 11-power draft calling upon the U. N. to set up new anti-aggression machinery. It was made after Vishinsky delivered a 37-page speech denouncing the western draft as one that could lead only to war. He said the American-sponsored proposal "boils down to sanctions—in other words, war."

In that speech, Vishinsky hinted at things to come in Asia. He accused the U. S. of ferrying Chinese Nationalist troops into Viet Nam, Burma and Thailand for an attack on the Chinese Reds. These measures, he said, would be described as "defensive" when "military operations begin against southern China."

This called to mind the beginning of the Korean war, when the Communists charged that the U. S. was the aggressor, and the Chinese intervention in Korea, when a similar charge was made.

Vishinsky touched only briefly on the point, without elaborating on his meaning.

Swedish Stand Praised. The Soviet resolution will be considered along with the 11-nation measure, but no vote is in prospect until some time next week. Some observers felt that if the Soviet text were amended to delete the section calling for dissolution of the collective measures committee, the other portions of the resolution would find substantial support.

In an apparent attempt to scare off any small power support for the new collective measures proposals, Vishinsky warned that "the morning after the night before is going to be a painful one" for those nations taking part in the plan.

He praised the Swedish delegate, Allan Vought, for the latter's speech yesterday in which Vought expressed fear that a U. N. collective security program might call on the small nations to agree in advance to take part in a war between the great powers.

Movie Pioneer, Builder Of Lush Gateway Inn Dies

ENCINO, Calif.—(P)—John H. King, who parlayed Detroit's first nickelodeon into a theater empire, died at his winter home here yesterday. He was 77.

King, whose name formerly was Kunsky, was reputed to have made a multi-million fortune in the movie business. He was the retired head of the Kunsky theater chain in Michigan.

His permanent residence was at Watersmeet in Gogebic county, Mich. Since 1930 he had been in semi-retirement. But he built the Gateway Inn, a lush recreation spot on the Michigan-Wisconsin border 20 miles north of Eagle River, Wis.

King and his partner, A. Arthur Caille, brought the first moving picture projector to Detroit in 1907 and set up a nickelodeon in 1907.

King later built the Michigan, Palms, Broadway-Capitol, Madison, Adams and other theaters in Detroit.

The Kunsky theater chain acquired half interest in the West Coast Theaters, Inc., of California, which operated 200 Pacific Coast theaters in 1926.

Pay Raise Will Cost 12 Million

LANSING—(P)—The recent pay raise granted state employees will cost $12,000,000-plus a year if applied to all state workers, the state department of administration estimated today.

The analysis includes a six per cent immediate pay raise granted by the University of Michigan to its employees and assumes a similar one will be forthcoming to all state colleges.

It also includes employees in the state service who are paid out of federal funds or non-appropriated monies.

The total cost to the state's general fund would be $9,796,716, the department said, with another $1,810,580 from so-called restricted funds and more than $1,000,000 from federal and non-appropriated sources.

The boost will fall on the general fund like this, the department said:

Education, $3,120,910; mental health, $2,853,294; adult corrections, $708,715; general government, $595,178; public safety and defense, $554,942; regulatory agencies, $553,593; public health, $503,115; public welfare, $461,967; agriculture, recreational and conservation, $461,967.

Capitol Hill Cool To Truman's Plan For Scandal Purge

would:

1. Abolish the offices of the 64 internal revenue collectors, substituting 25 "district commissioners" in their place.

2. Create an independent inspection service, streamline and centralize bureau administration, and provide for "more adequate salaries" for top administrative officials.

3. Take collectorships out of the "political plum" category and place the entire agency under civil service with the sole exception of the Internal Revenue commissioner.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) commented that "Congress would do well to go slowly and see that everything is cleaned up before throwing the blanket of civil service over all those positions."

Detriot Cafe Sticks To 1939 Prices On New Menus For 1952. DETROIT—(P)—Joe Tuzack had newly printed 1952 menus for his Green Feather restaurant today and they carried 1939 prices.

He started the price rollback experiment last November and it worked out so well in boosting business he's going to keep trying for profits on heavy volume.

Mrs. Sandra Dell tried the same idea at her sandwich shop but she reported it didn't work. She said her shop was too small to give sufficient volume to assure a profit. Her new menus bear a neatly "1952" with inflation prices.

Tuzack's restaurant can seat 100 patrons at a time and he found that keep the place filled netted a tidy profit.

"The higher prices go elsewhere the better my business will be," he said.

Woman Killed; Brother Of Swedish King Hurt. STOCKHOLM, Sweden—(P)—Prince Wilhelm, 67, brother of Sweden's King Gustaf VI, was injured slightly yesterday after the car he was driving struck a stone pillar during a blinding snowfall. A woman occupant was killed.

The Prince was taken to a hospital. One of his companions, Mme. Jeanne de Tramcourt, 76, manager of his country estate, was killed instantly. Another occupant, Mme. Goa de Iturbide, a lady in waiting at the Swedish royal court, also was hospitalized.

The accident occurred near the St. Jaernhov railway station, 60 miles southwest of Stockholm.

Arm Loss Fatal. DETROIT—(P)—Troy Cutright, 42, lost his right arm when he tried to grab an object from a moving coal conveyor belt. He died of his injuries Tuesday.

IT TAKES MORE TO KEEP PACE

Taxes and inflation have taken such a toll that your income must be double or better what it was in 1940 for you to have the same relative purchasing power you had then. The Newchart above, based on data from the National Industrial Conference Board, shows the 1951 income needed by families at three different income levels to give them the same dollar buying power they had in 1940.

Tax Collector Up For Bribery

By TOM HORGAN

BOSTON—(P)—Charged with accepting bribes to influence tax cases, Denis W. Delaney, deputy collector of internal revenue for Massachusetts, was called for trial today in federal court.

Indictments accused Delaney of accepting $12,500 and with false certification tax liens of $180,000, which had not been paid.

An attempt will be made to obtain a jury of 12 from a venire of 110 men and five women.

Delaney was the first tax official of his rank brought to trial in a nation-wide investigation of the internal revenue department. One other collector has been indicted.

Originally appointed by President Roosevelt in 1943, Delaney was reappointed by President Truman. President Truman refused to accept a resignation from Delaney last June and later suspended him.

Prosecutor Underwood said he was investigating the parties attended by the young people and indicated he might seek warrants charging adults with contributing to the delinquency of minors by serving them liquor.

Barbara and Jessie, both of Pontiac, had left one party to hitchhike to another.

By law, the "pattern pieces" of a trial strike made by the U. S. Mint are now carefully destroyed. In early days, however, such coins were often preserved and thus came into the hands of collectors.

The market put on another fairly active opening, but then the ticker tape slowed to a halting pace.

Most price changes were less than a dollar a share, and there was no inclination for demand to center on any individual stock of the list. Railroads which provided a push in yesterday's session were quiescent today.

News developments stirred little response in Wall Street, which views the over-all situation both foreign and domestic as without major change, despite Russia's call for a security council meeting to help bring about a Korean armistice, and the steelworkers' indication that they will stay at work pending stabilization board hearings on their wage demand.

U. S. government bonds in the over-the-counter market were quiet with some easing tendency in a few long-term issues. Corporates on the exchange were narrowly higher.

Two Girls Killed By Car As Driver Gives 1952 Kiss

PONTIAC, Mich.—(P)—Authorities studied charges today against a youth whose car killed two high school girls on New Year's Eve—and possibly against adults who served him drinks before the holiday tragedy.

Oakland County Prosecutor Clyde B. Underwood said 20-year-old Anthony Redmond of Royal Oak probably would be charged with leaving the scene of an accident—which carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison.

Redmond surrendered to police Tuesday night and said his car had struck teenagers Barbara Holloway and Jessie Anastos seconds after he gave a New Year's kiss to his 15-year-old girl companion.

Redmond said he and his companions in the car, a 17-year-old youth and another 15-year-old girl—had been on a round of holiday parties and that he had "a couple of beers—maybe three but no more."

Prosecutor Underwood said he was investigating the parties attended by the young people and indicated he might seek warrants charging adults with contributing to the delinquency of minors by serving them liquor.

Barbara and Jessie, both of Pontiac, had left one party to hitchhike to another.

Big Atomic Project Pays Off In Canada

By FRANK CAREY
CHALK RIVER, Ont.—(P)—Canada had the chief stakes in a kind of safety side-bet made in the great wartime gamble which produced the first American atomic bomb.

And it's now paying off in established and potential benefits to industry, agriculture and medicine in certain ways unmatched by any other country.

The side-bet was Canada's atomic project, established in 1943, to investigate the feasibility of producing plutonium—a potential bomb-material—by a process differing from the one chosen by the United States for the same objective.

Heavy Water Chosen
The idea was, Canadian scientists told me, that if the method chosen by the Americans didn't pan out, the Canadian project might provide a back-stop.

The problem involved a choice of material to slow down neutrons in a pile of uranium and thus sustain a chain-reaction resulting in the production of plutonium. The Americans chose graphite, a form of carbon, because it was much more plentiful and readily available than the principal alternative substance — "heavy water."

Britain, Canada and the United States agreed on concentrating the heavy water research project in Canada.

The United States furnished some of its scientists, and also supplied the heavy water—an undisclosed amount, but Canadian scientists told me it was all that was available to the Allies at the time.

But Dr. C. J. MacKenzie, scientific head of Canada's project implied that America's participation in the project was reduced after the war.

"I think we are probably further advanced than if we had (full) cooperation from the United States because we were thrown on our own," he told me.

Both Click
He had been discussing what he termed "in essence x x x a one-way flow of traffic" on atomic information from Canada to the United States following passage of the American atomic energy control act in 1945. It is since that time that the Canadian project has hit its greatest stride.

MacKenzie, referring to the alternatives presented during the war, declared:

"As it turned out, graphite did click, but the heavy water project has also clicked in many different ways, some of them spectacular."

He was referring in part to the fact that in Canada's reactor, radioactive isotopes for use in medicine, agriculture and industrial applications, can be made "hotter and smaller" than in any other reactor. That is, superior "hotness" can be produced in smaller quantities of material.

Dr. W. Bennett Lewis, director of research at Canada's chalk river atomic plant, said in another interview:

"A lot of people had doubts about heavy water and everyone will now admit that not enough attention was paid to it."

Correct Chance Taken
Dr. Lewis told me he feels that the American decision to "take the plunge on graphite" during the war was the correct one.

But he added that, in the light of the Canadian experience with the heavy water type, the United States "might have leaned a little bit too far in the direction of graphite reactors."

He amplified this by saying he believes the United States "could have afforded to concentrate" on large-scale production of heavy water and the development of heavy water reactors "at the end of the war and after the war."

(What the United States is now doing on heavy water production has not been disclosed. Presumably, extensive efforts are being made along that line, because, in addition to its established use in reactors, heavy water is theoretically important in connection with ingredients for the projected hydrogen bomb.)

Facts Of Life Presented For Leap Year Maidens

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—So it's leap year, lady, and you want to get that guy?

Well, if you want to be successful, quit trying to follow the usual advice to the lovelorn, and face the real facts of life.

The main fact is that the odds are against you—and the odds are getting worse. Ten years ago there were 100 men for every 100 women in the United States. But the last census showed there are only 96.6 men over 21 for every 100 women in the same age bracket.

There just aren't enough guys to go around. Most of the 100 women try to marry one of those 96 men. Why don't you aim at the left-over—the .6 percent fellow. Don't forget that if you can't get a whole man a male fraction is better than none.

The professional advice-givers usually tell a girl to be sensible and "marry a dependable, healthy man with a steady job and a good sense of humor." That is like telling you to marry the man in the moon.

There's a Barrier

Think of all the men you know who are dependable, healthy and have steady jobs and a good sense of humor. Don't they already wear some other gal's brand? As a young lady told me mournfully!

"I know a lot of good men I'd like to marry—but their wives don't let me."

So, if you really want to get wed this year, start culling over the junk heap of masculinity that is left. Remember, a good jalopy can be built from the metal scraps found in the average city dump.

Your best bet isn't to search for the perfect husband. It's to salvage and recondition some battered Joe your girl friends have passed over in the mad scramble. To take some masculine nightmare and remold him into your dream man—that is your challenge, lady.

A few tips on how to do it? Look for a man with circles under his eyes. Now, here is obviously a fellow who needs a good night rest. All you have to do is convince him that if he marries you he will get it.

Men with ulcers are always good possibilities. But if you have an ulcer, too, don't let him know about it until after you've pushed him to the altar. Tell him you're fat-footed or got indoor eczema—and he won't mind. But all bachelors are instinctively wary of wedding women with the same ailments as they have. They don't want to share it with anybody.

He Will Go To Work!

Single men with melancholy dispositions are first-rate prospects. Marriage is a serious proposition, and nothing is so trying to a wife as a mate who brags about his sense of humor. What gives a husband the right to think he's got anything to laugh about anyway?

Don't worry if the man you're after doesn't seem able to hold a steady job. Six months after you land him, he'll be glad to get up every morning and go to work—anything to get out of the house.

The main thing is—don't look for a man you want to marry because of his virtues. Marry a man for his defects, and then iron them out. It is much easier to correct a defect than to preserve a virtue.

Two final warnings: Don't marry a man who wears bowties and a crew haircut. He'll never grow up.

And don't marry an oboe player. You'll never hear the last of him.

I., who have been visiting his parents, and introduced his bride of October 7, the former Alice Mitchell of Menlo Park, California.

Old Tombs Of Athens Give New Facts About Bronze Age Culture

PRINCETON, N. J.—(AP)—A new chapter in the history of the ancient world may be opened by the discovery of 13 tombs in the ruins of Athens, an American archaeologist says.

Finding of the tombs, dug about 3,500 years ago, was reported by Homer A. Thompson, field director of the expedition restoring the market place, or agora, of the city which cradled Greek civilization.

The discoveries, Thompson said, revise long accepted theories of a period of Greek history about which little is known.

Perfectly preserved skeletons were found in the tombs, and burial ornaments which definitely change current concepts about the state of Athenian culture of the Bronze Age.

The graves contained vases, jewelry, bronze daggers and ivory combs.

Thompson told an assemblage of the Archaeological Institution of America the evidence found makes possible extension of knowledge of the Bronze Age by as much as 200 years, possibly to 1600 B.C.

The skill of the handiwork on the objects found in the graves, makes it clear that the Athenians of this early period were well advanced culturally, contrary to accepted ideas, Thompson said.

Archaeologists discovered the graves last summer while they were clearing away ruins built on top of the famous Athenian mar-

Better Fishing In U. P. Sought

Research Station At Marquette

LANSING—Improvement of fishing in the Upper Peninsula will be the goal of a new research station to be established in Marquette in 1952 by the conservation department.

The new station will be an extension of the department's institute for fisheries research at Ann Arbor whose findings in recent years have resulted in liberalization of fishing regulations below the Straits and in marked changes in department fish management policies.

"We hope to bring the benefits of scientific study of its sport fishing problems to a section of Michigan whose waters are basically different from those of the rest of the state," says Dr. Justin W. Leonard, department research administrator.

"There are great geological differences between the rocky western part of the Upper Peninsula with its 'brown water' streams and the gravelly moraines, outwash plains and cedar swamps below the Straits. Establishment of a new research station at Marquette will permit first-hand study of the differences and conceivably may result in better fishing."

The department operates trout hatcheries at Marquette, Thompson and Watersmeet and trout rearing stations at Cooks Run and on the Otter river in the western part of the peninsula.

Findings of the institute prompted legislative action effective last September 28 which opened downstate lakes to year-around fishing except for those species on which seasons are closed.

Gulliver Man Shoots Self

Condition Reported Critical Last Night

Harry James Schram, 45, of Gulliver, was reported in a critical condition at the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital last night, with a self-inflicted rifle bullet wound in his left chest and shoulder.

Schram was taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon following an apparent suicide attempt at the Harold Bowman home at Gulliver Lake where he had resided for the past 18 years.

Deputy Sheriff John M. Hewitt who with Trooper Marvin Anderson of the Michigan state police investigated the shooting said last evening that Schram had shot himself about 1 p. m. yesterday while alone at the Bowman home.

A 300 Savage rifle apparently slipped when Schram leaned over it to snap the trigger, Hewitt said, the bullet missing the heart and penetrating the left chest and coming out through the shoulder.

Bowman, returning a few minutes later, found Schram and summoned officers and Dr. James H. Fyvie. Schram was taken to the hospital where a blood transfusion was administered.

Officers reported that Schram, who had been employed by the Bowman Oil company, of Gulliver, for about 18 years, had been despondent for some time. He is a veteran of World War II and unmarried.

Raski was arrested by Michigan state police Monday afternoon on US-2 in Inwood township. Police, returning from Iron Mountain, noticed weaving truck tracks on the highway and eventually overtook Raski and a loaded feed truck he was driving.

His chauffeur's license was revoked.

Floor Show To Highlight Game

Hawaiians To Play Saturday Evening

Grass-skirted Hawaiian girls will perform with the traveling Hawaiian All Stars in their game here Saturday night against the Manistique Chevs, putting on a 30-minute floor show.

The visiting Pacific islanders have made an outstanding hit in appearances in other Upper Peninsula communities this week, both as basketball players and as entertainers. A large crowd is expected to crowd the new gymnasium Saturday night to watch the performance.

The main game is scheduled for 8:30, and will be preceded by a preliminary starting at 7.

An advance sale of tickets is being conducted.

Gerontology Is Meeting Theme

Clubwomen To Have Pro-gram On Topic

"An introduction to Gerontology" will be the topic of a program to be presented by the new gerontology committee at the next meeting of the Manistique Women's club, scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 8, at Lakeside school.

Gerontology is a new national study directed toward providing greater happiness during mature years. Newspapers, magazines, radio, television and the motion picture industry are all giving attention to the subject, and the University of Michigan is pioneering in gerontological research and study.

Also on the program will be solos by Miss Jean Carlson, Manistique high school senior, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur F. Hall at the piano.

Escanaba football fans who listened to the Cotton Bowl clash in Dallas, Texas, Tuesday may have wondered about the familiar ring of a Kentucky fullback's name. They weren't mistaken if they thought it sounded like Allen Felch, former Marinette Marine high school star who blasted the Escanaba line to shreds some years back. It was the same boy. Felch was the second leading ground gainer for the Wildcats during the past season. And when Babe Parilli wasn't tossing passes for Kentucky in its 20-7 Cotton Bowl win over Texas Christian on New Year's Day, Felch was doing a good deal of the ball carrying for Coach Paul Bryant's squad. Felch, by the way, is the third Marinette griddier to perform in a major post-season grid feature. Preceding him were Earl "Jug" Girard in the East-West classic and George Sladky with LaCrosse State Teachers in the Cigar Bowl.

Escanaba Eskimo cage scoring this season is extremely well-balanced, a glance at the individual performance record shows. Coach Steve Baltic's Eskys are paced by a pair of lanky courtmen. Forward Paul Gunderman and Guard Jim Heiden. Gunderman has 53 points and Heiden 51 in four games. The other three regulars are closely grouped with Paul Baldwin scoring 26, JoJo Johnson 24 and Tom Smith 21. Of the front line reserves, John Peterson has six points.

Offensively, the Green Bay Packers had their best year in the recently-concluded season since 1947. The Bays chalked up 254 points in their dozen NFL contests and tied with the New York Giants for sixth place in the scoring column. Coach Gene Ronzani's aerial-minded squad took league honors for pass completions and the number of overthrows thrown. Fred Cone, recruit fullback from Clemson, tallied one touchdown, 29 extra points and five field goals to top the Packer scorers with 50. Bob Mann was second with 48 and two other ends, Carlton Elliot and Ray Pelfrey with 30 apiece.

The Trojan cagers captured the Upper Peninsula Parochial school tournament in Marquette for the third successive year to retire the trophy permanently. ## Hawaiians Here Tonight After Beating Hickory Sticks 67-50

Fresh from a 67-50 win over the Rapid River Hickory Sticks last night at Rapid River, the Hawaiian All-Stars invade St. Joseph gym here tonight to take on the Escanaba Harnischfeger cage quint.

Art Kim's ambassadors from the Islands set a hot pace in Rapid River to humble the veteran Hickory Sticks cagers. They led through most of the first half by a narrow margin, then turned on blinding speed in the third period

Chisox Will Try Something New In Training Schedule

HAVANA, Cuba—(P)—The Chicago White Sox are going to try something new this year to get their baseball team in condition. "We are abolishing the old idea of one-night, or one-day, stands on the way home from training camp," said Frank Lane, White Sox general manager.

Here on a combined business and pleasure trip, Lane today said: "We budget about $75,000 to get the club in shape. I believe these one-night stands take the edge off the players before they start the 154-game schedule."

"On our way back from Pasadena, Calif., our spring training camp, we will make some stops all right, but they'll be for two to four days. That will give the players more time to rest."

High School Athletic Association Officials To Set Up Grid Code

CHICAGO—(P)—Officials of State High School Athletic associations throughout the country met today with the main result of a two-day session expected to be formulation of the 1952 football code.

First session today involved executive officers of state prep groups from 33 states. The officials planned to discuss the probable effect of television on the high school program, safety provisions in football and insurance of athletics against injury.

The football committee of the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations will have its meeting tomorrow and Saturday. Changes under consideration involve methods of timing games, modifying kicking rules and dealing with rough play.

Don't Feel Bad, Others Made Bum Guesses

BALTIMORE — (P) — If you picked Brooklyn to win the 1951 National league pennant or Notre Dame to beat SMU, move over, chum. You've got company.

Illustrious company, too. A whole hat full of potent predictions by limelighters of the sports world backfired with a bang in 1951.

Just look back: Jan. 1—Jockey Joe Culmone, who rode 388 winners in 1950 to tie Willie Shoemaker for the year's racing honors and a 44-year-old record: "I'll break it next year for sure." (Culmone now is 150 winners behind Charley Burr, the 1951 leader and hasn't had even half of 388).

Jan. 2—Albert B. (Happy) Chandler, after major league club owners denied him a new contract to jump to a 49-31 lead which they maintained to the final gun. Harnischfeger will toss a veteran lineup against the visitors tonight. Slated for action are Bob Dufour, Tom Dufour, Ed Gauthier, Warren Fisher, Mickey Kutchenberg, Don Paulin, Dale Gibson and Charlie Camps.

Play In Prelim

The Hickory Sticks will show in Escanaba for the first time this season in the preliminary against the young Al's Tavern boys. The prelim gets under way at 7, with the main game slated for 8:30.

At halftime the three Aloha girls will perform native Hawaiian dances in grass skirts.

Ronald Kim, forward, led the Hawaiians last night with 22 points. He surrendered scoring

HONOR TROJANS

The St. Joseph Trojans, U. P. Parochial school champions, will be guests of the Escanaba Basketball association at the game tonight. Trojan players will be introduced and the Monsignor Henry A. Buchholtz Memorial trophy, won by St. Joe last week, will be on display.

The Hickory Sticks led 25-20 with two minutes remaining in the second period but were unable to hold the edge. At halftime the Hawaiians had a 28-26 margin.

Spartan Boxers Highly Rated In Collegiate Ranks

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (P) — Michigan State has a good chance of repeating as NCAA boxing champion again this year.

Jed Black, the 145 pound champion, and Chuck Spieser, 175 pound titlist from Detroit, both will be back to defend their titles.

Among the newcomers, Herb Odum, Negro lightweight from Flint, is the favorite with Coach George Makris. Odum weighs only 135 pounds but is six feet tall, has a remarkable reach and is as fast as a striking rattlesnake, according to those who have seen him fight.

In addition, lettermen returning from last year will include Welterweight Pierce Lane of Big Rapids, Leon Hamilton, 165-pounder from Detroit, and Fred Weeks, a 155-pounder from Pontiac.

Six-Seven Forward Leading Wolverine Basketball Team

Ann Arbor, Mich. — (P) — A lanky six-foot, seven-inch sophomore forward from Bay City, Mich., is leading the way for a University of Michigan basketball team that may improve greatly with experience.

He's Milt Mead, a rangy, 190-pounder, with the makings of a fine college court man.

Mead has popped in 72 points in the Wolverines' first six games for a 12-point average and gives promise of much more. Coach Ernie McCoy has alternated the former Bay City prep star between center and forward but he seems to work best up front with Dick Williams, another six-foot, seven-incher, in the pivot post.

Capt. Jim Skala, the only senior on the starting five, is currently pressing Mead with 62 points for an average of slightly better than 10 points a game.

Hawks Tip Marquette 9-2 For First Ice Win

Hockey Sidelights

The Escanaba Hawks struck back at the Marquette Sentinels last night to post their first victory in their first home game of the season in the Northern Michigan league title chase. A highly pleased crowd of 609 fans saw the Hawks avenge an earlier loss to Marquette in a convincing 9-2 manner.

Smoother passing and better defensive work highlighted the play of the Hawks, who clearly showed the result of additional practices. They held the edge in every period, leading 2-1 after the first and 5-1 going into the finale.

It was a big night for the youngsters who all but stole the show from Escanaba's No. 1 line. Les Young, Neil Sinclair and Billy Bovin, the Gladstone trio, and Escanaba's Buddy Provo were particularly effective. Young, skating harder than ever before, opened the scoring in the second period after working the puck around behind the net and skidding it past Jim DeMarinis. 16-year-old Marquette goalie, and he set up a beautiful play that Bovin capitalized on just in front of the Marquette net.

What with Buddy Provo's scrimmage goal sandwiched between those at the midway point, the youngsters monopolized play in the second canto and enabled Escanaba to go into the final period with a fairly substantial 5-1 margin.

Tagliabracchi, Escanaba defenseman, had his best night to date, scoring two goals from 30 feet out after carrying the puck from center ice just within the blue line, and breaking up several Marquette attacks on defense.

The addition of Ed Broughton, the Manistique school teacher and former University of Minnesota player, made a difference in Escanaba's defense, also.

Although not at his best because it was only his second time on skates this season, Broughton played a heady game and demonstrated clearly that he'd been under hockey fire before. Once he recovered the rubber in a defensive corner, he knew what to do with it to get an offensive play underway.

For awhile, it looked as if Escanaba's power line would go scoreless, but at the 3:01 mark in the last period, Joe Ricci took a double pass from Ted and Mark Olson to beat DeMarinis directly in front of the Marquette net. Three minutes later, he collaborated with Ted Olson for another that put Escanaba in front by 7-2. Ted and Mark had to be satisfied with two assists each last night.

Tagliabracchi's second goal and Burt Petaja's tally in the waning moments were the clinchers. Little Guy Poce was again a sparkplug for the Hawks. He fired one between the Marquette goalie's legs from close in to put Escanaba in front 2-1 just three seconds before the end of the first period.

Goalie Ben Artwich was again outstanding for Escanaba. Although getting considerably more help on defense, he was still called upon to make 45 stops to 31 for DeMarinis. Artwich had 20 saves the first period.

The game got off to a rough start with seven penalties the first period. There were 16 penalties in all, and it looked several times as if bad blood was going to spill but the only actual fisticuffs were Johnny Vasseau's brief attack on Les Young in the third period.

Escanaba's next home game is against the Calumet Radars next Wednesday. The Hawks play at Calumet this Saturday night.

Pole Vaulting Parson Is James E. Sullivan Award Winning Amateur

ROANOKE, Va. — (P) — The Rev. Robert (Bob) Richards, whose amazing pole-vaulting and decathlon performances earned him the 1951 James E. Sullivan Memorial trophy, raked a sweaty forehead with the back of his hand.

The flying parson had just pulled up in the darkness after a tour around a city park here. The time was 1 a. m. (EST) today.

"Well," said Richards, "I guess that's enough for tonight. I've worked out in this little park for almost two hours now. After a shower, I'll go to bed."

Eyes Olympics

That's the way Richards, second pole vaulter in history to clear 15 feet and the National Decathlon champion, keeps in trim for his great performances. That's the way he's getting ready for the coming Olympic trials.

"I have to train much of the time at night," said the 25-year-old parson, who last Sunday scored his fiftieth straight pole-vaulting victory in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. "I usually teach in the morning, have business affairs to care for in the afternoon, preach at night and then comes my training."

Richards, who said winning the Sullivan trophy yesterday was "probably the greatest honor of my life," is concentrating on his Olympic preparation.

"I'm training with all my heart and soul for that Olympic team," the stocky Richards said. "I hope to be in top shape. And I've got my heart set on breaking the world's pole-vaulting and decathlon records. With the help of God, I will."

Richards said he would defend his championships in all of the indoor meets the next few weeks. "I'm planning to concentrate on pole-vaulting," he explained, "and I want to establish a new record before the Olympic trials. When the indoor season is over, I'll go into heavy training for all of the decathlon events."

A comparative newcomer to the decathlon competition, Richards wants to better the world record tally of 8,042 points rolled up by Olympic Champion Bob Mathias. He collected 7,834 points in the 10-event test last year.

Richards, here on a visit and conducting revivals at nearby towns, is an instructor in religious philosophy at LaVerne (Calif.) College.

Caught on the rebound at the Escanaba-Marquette home opener last night: Although local hockey fans were keyed up for last night's thriller, much talk centered around this: "When are the Bukovichs coming to town?" Well, the Portage Lake brother act, Terrible Tony, Malicious Mike and Jolting Joe, will be here Wednesday, Jan. 16. Circle that date on your calendar.

The rugged Radars of Calumet will be here next Wednesday night. Calumet is still paced by its veterans, but it has a host of youngster stars coming up—and fast. Incidentally, seven Northern Michigan loop games have been played to date and in every game, the home team has triumphed. Which team will be the first to break this string? It could be Escanaba at Calumet Saturday night.

Escanaba is without the services of John Cortopassi, able wing and former Michigan Tech star. X-ray disclosed that his "sprain" in the Portage Lake game last Sunday was a broken ankle. He'll be out for five weeks. Both Ted Olson and Guy Poce did the in-again-out-again act in the penalty box last night. Ted's was most obvious. He just finished serving two minutes for a tripping penalty and after 12 seconds on the ice, he was back again for boarding.

It looked as if the whole Escanaba team was going to sit in the penalty box at one time during the first period. Jerry Tagliabracchi, Joe Ricci and Ed Broughton sat out simultaneously as Marquette Linesman Fred "Weasel" Brunelle was keeping a close check on Escanaba activities. Credit Clem Tordeur with one stop. He caught the puck in the second row behind the press box.

Broughton was a tired hockey player after the game. He drove 29 straight hours returning to Manistique from Christmas vacation in Minnesota, grabbed a couple of hours' sleep and came over to play last night. It was only his second time on skates this season, too. They call that having a hockey heart!

Bark River Broncos Face Tough Weekend Cage Slate

BARK RIVER—The Broncos of Bark River-Harris have their work cut out for them this weekend as the Upper Peninsula high school cage slate resumes action

Former Prep Cage Great Quits School

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Seven-foot Billy (Toar) Hester, who had the greatest advance buildup ever given a basketball player in the Southwest conference but didn't live up to expectations, has quit the University of Arkansas.

His coach, Presley Askew, said last night the big center withdrew from college because he had an "intense dislike" for school, lost his enthusiasm for the game and longed for his old farm life in Louisiana.

When Hester graduated from high school at Hall Summit, La., in 1949 and Arkansas beat scores of colleges in the race for his services, he was pictured as a sure-fire All-America.

As a sophomore last year, Toar played as a second-stringer much of the time. He averaged fewer than 10 points a game—far off his mean of 24 in 60 high school tilts. In this, his junior season, he has averaged 15.7 points in 11 games, but has been unable to cope with more experienced pivot men of less height, especially if the opposition was a running team.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A lot of folks have been asking why a kid like Dick Kazmaier, a real stand-out in football and basketball, was not nominated for the 1951 Sullivan Memorial award. Dan Ferris supplied the answer at yesterday's track writers' lunch: He was, but his name was knocked off by the Sullivan committee when it whittled the original list of about 45 down to nine names submitted to the tribunal for the final vote. Dan's explanation was that several years ago the committee adopted a policy of disregarding team sports on the grounds that a player depended too much on help from his teammates. That must have been after Doc Blanchard and Arnold Tucker won the Sullivan award in 1955 and 1955. But the constantly-changing committee apparently didn't say positively. One of the nine men who survived the cut was San Francisco's George Yardley, a star in two team sports, basketball and volleyball. P. S.: You can't very well quarrel with the ultimate selection of the Rev. Bob Richards as a stand-out in "performance, example and good influence."

End Run

It may be an oldie, but Michigan football followers still get a chuckle out of this tale about Fielding H. Seems that one time Yost was persuaded by a photographer to enter a zoo cage with one of the

Spartans Trip Notre Dame 66-52 For Seventh In Row

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(AP)—Michigan State's Spartans are going great guns on the eve of their second season of competition in Big Ten basketball.

The Spartans scored an impressive 66-52 victory over Notre Dame last night to give them seven straight wins this season before embarking against their rugged Big Ten competitors.

Michigan State will entertain unbeaten Iowa at East Lansing, Mich., Saturday in its Big Ten opener.

The Spartans snapped Notre Dame's home-game winning streak at 20 games. The Irish, already beaten this season by Indiana, hadn't lost a home game since Iowa won 64-62 Dec. 19, 1949.

The game was tied 15-15 at the end of the first quarter and the Spartans held a slim 31-29 advantage at halftime.

16 For Carey
 State's 6-foot-5 center, Bob Carey, led a third quarter outburst that overwhelmed the Irish 14-2 in the closing 4½ minutes.

Notre Dame was unable to trim the 53-39 lead the Spartans held at the end of the third quarter.

Carey scored seven of his 16 points in the third-quarter drive. He's just getting into shape for basketball after his All-America performance as an end on State's unbeaten football team.

Carey's teammate, Guard Gordon Stauffer, also scored 16 points. Keith Stackhouse, Spartan forward, scored 15.

Dick Rosenthal, sophomore center, was high scorer for the Irish with 13 points.

The Spartans held Notre Dame's ace forward, Leroy Leslie, to nine points.

DETROIT—(AP)—Catcher Bob Swift has signed his 1952 contract with the Detroit Tigers. The salary was not disclosed.

Swift, 35, will start his ninth season with the Tigers. He is a veteran of 12 seasons in the American league.

Swift batted .192 last season in 44 games—his lowest average since he joined the Tigers.

Shorts and Shells

Roy Campanella's Harlem liquor store did such good business during the holidays that Campy complained: "I can't take a half hour off for lunch."

Maybe that will show on his figure when spring training starts. After hearing that May Whitfield and Phil Thigpen will be among his opponents in Saturday's K. of C. track meet, Roscoe Browne grinned: "I don't feel so fast now."

He had been just telling about his being in good condition. Bill McKechnie, the Cincinnati Reds' new farm director, giving Hank Gowdy credit for starting him in the executive end of baseball. Rabbit McVeigh, still refereeing hockey games around Detroit at the age of 55, finds one big change in the game since his playing days. He says they now flood the rinks with glue instead of water.

How about a hand embroidered crying towel for Maryland's Jim Tatum for such pre-Sugar Bowl remarks as the one about fearing a great coach more than great material—and Tennessee had both.

But Jim seems to have a rival in Red Brown, West Virginia basketball coach. After scouting NYU against Arizona, Red moaned: "I've never seen such devastating power in a college team. They have defensive weaknesses, but I don't see how we can hold them under 75 points."

Johnny Wooden, head basketball coach at UCLA since 1948, is a former star performer for Purdue University.

Big Ten Court Race Should Be One Of Closest

CHICAGO—(AP)—The opening of the Big Ten basketball season Saturday appeared assured one of its strongest fields in recent years when Michigan State overpowered Notre Dame last night.

The 66-52 verdict was the first defeat for the Irish at home in 21 games and was only their second loss this season.

Michigan State thus heads into the title chase with a perfect record, seven wins and no losses. Identical records are held by Indiana, Iowa and Illinois.

All Big Ten teams swing into conference competition Saturday night in a card which has Illinois at Minnesota, Michigan at Indiana, Iowa at Michigan State, Ohio State at Northwestern and Purdue at Wisconsin.

Detroit beat Marquette 63-61 at Milwaukee last night in another midwest cage feature.

DETROIT—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, riding high atop the National Hockey league standings, were wondering today when those carbon-copy 1-0 defeats at the hands of the New York Rangers will end.

For the second week in a row the Wings invaded Madison Square Garden last night, and the lowly Rangers scored a first period goal then battled it to the bitter finish for a 1-0 shutout.

Don Raleigh scored at 12 minutes of the first period on passes from Jack Evans and Gage Stewart, and then Goalie Chuck Rayner turned back every Detroit assault on the New York nets.

Good Net Work
 Terry Sawchuck, the Detroit goal tender, was equally brilliant in the Wing nets, with a total of 31 saves. Rayner stopped 17 Detroit shots, several times coming 10 and 15 feet out on the ice to steer the puck from the nets as the Wings applied heavy pressure in the final period.

A week ago, Ed Slowinski scored on passes from Raleigh and Stewart at 3:04 of the first period, and the teams fought it out the rest of the way without another goal.

Last night's victory was only the second over Detroit this season for New York. Detroit has won six, and the teams played one 4-4 tie.

Raleigh played with a bruised big toe on his left foot last night, the result of an injury at Boston Tuesday.

pointed reformers."

Crisler discussed the current "de-emphasis" outcry in a talk to the Southern California chapter of the Football Writers association yesterday.

He appealed for continued emphasis on winning games.

"Are we going to de-emphasize winning?" he asked. "If so, then what are we to emphasize—losing?"

Crisler contended America was made great because of a winning attitude.

"It certainly would be no fun to come in second in a war," he pointed out.

Sees One Trouble
 Crisler acknowledged there are problems to be solved. The main trouble—and he included Michigan in the list—was, he said, that the policy has developed "where the institution seeks the kids instead of the kids seeking the institution."

This can be corrected, Crisler said, by the conferences or the governing boards of the respective schools.

Crisler is a member of the national rules committee which will meet later this month. He said the free substitution rule probably would merit first attention.

Crisler asked for a show of hands on whether the writers would prefer to return to the rule of 1944 when players were not permitted to leave and return to the game in the same quarter. The vote was a 23-23 tie.

Crisler, laughing, declined to cast a vote.

Sugar Bowl Champs Win In Overtime

NEW YORK—(AP)—Michigan State upset Notre Dame, 66-52, and St. Louis, the Sugar Bowl tourney champion, had to go overtime to beat Houston, 64-57.

These were the chief developments in collegiate basketball last night.

Playing at home Notre Dame was favored to knock Michigan State out of the unbeaten ranks. But the Spartans, chalking up their 7th in a row, led at the half, 31-29, then put on a second half drive that killed all chance for the Irish. It was Notre Dame's first home defeat since Iowa won on Dec. 19, 1949.

Overtime Win
 Fordham surprised by invading Raleigh, N. C., and beating North Carolina State, 62 to 59, in an overtime fray. A free throw by Fordham's Dan Lyons in the last minute tied the score at 53-all and forced the game overtime.

The touring Pennsylvania and Dartmouth teams both were beaten. Duke defeated Penn., 62-52, as Dick Groat tallied 22 points for the Blue Devils. Dartmouth put up a valiant struggle against Bowling Green at Toledo, but faded in the second half and lost, 76-68.

The scheduled Kentucky-Mississippi game at Owensboro, Ky., was postponed to Thursday night because bad weather grounded the Mississippi plane at Memphis.

Johnny Wooden, head basketball coach at UCLA since 1948, is a former star performer for Purdue University.

Pro Golf Campaign Under Way Tomorrow In Los Angeles Open

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The 1952 professional golf campaign will be launched here tomorrow when about 200 players tee off in the first round of the $17,500 Los Angeles Open Tournament.

Missing from the lineup will be incomparable Ben Hogan, as well as Sam Snead and several other name pros.

Favored to score a repeat victory is Lloyd Mangrum who topped the field a year ago.

The winner's prize is $4,000. Play will be at the Riviera Country club. The 72-hole tournament winds up Monday.

Yesterday approximately 300 non-exempt players competed in qualifying rounds for the 70-odd places open. Such luminaries as Vern Stephens of the Boston Red Sox and former fight champ Joe Louis failed to make the grade. Louis had 152, three strokes too many.

Detroit Rally Tops Marquette By 63-61

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Detroit drove from behind and hung on against a strong surge from Marquette for a 63-61 basketball victory last night.

The Hilltoppers, paced by Russ Wittberger's 29 points, got off to a fast start and piled up a 17-10 lead by the end of the first period.

They stretched it to 35-30 at the half.

Then the Titans got going and went ahead in the third period 44-43. They hung on despite Marquette's last quarter rally. Center Norm Swanson was high man for Detroit with 18.

None of the players on the New York football Giants hails from the state of New York.

Your Income Tax Primer

First Two Questions Any Taxpayer Must Answer

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of 13 authoritative, easy-to-follow articles in NEA's 11th annual Income Tax Primer—expert advice for the average taxpayer on handling every item of his return with the least effort, greatest accuracy—and minimum payment. The author, Richard A. Mullens, is a ranking Washington tax authority and a graduate of the same training course given Federal agents who scan your own return.

MULLENS

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
NEA Special Correspondent

Do I have to file a return on my 1951 income at all?

If I do, what form for reporting should I use?

These are obviously the first two questions any taxpayer has to answer before he starts filing a return.

The official instructions—which you should have in order to file your return properly—state that "everyone who had $600 or more gross income in 1951 must file." You need to know, however, that gifts or non-taxable income such as veterans' disability pensions should not be included in figuring gross income.

This may surprise you, but even if you earned something less than $600 from which a tax was withheld, you should file a return and get the tax back. If you don't do this you lose it.

That goes especially for students or others who worked part time or in summer during the year. And you can still claim your dependents even though they file a return to get back the tax withheld on earnings of less than $600.

If there is still a question on what constitutes "gross income" wait for articles four to eight in the Primer. But most of you know now whether or not you have to file. Thus, we come to which of the three forms to use—the second most important problem of filing.

Read the section beginning on page two of the instruction pamphlet called, "How to Choose Your Return." This describes Form 1040A, Short Form 1040 and Long Form 1040. That section may still leave questions for those of you who made less than $5000 last year. Fill out the attached form and it will automatically tell you which return to use.

Those of you with incomes over $5000 have no problem. You have to use Long Form 1040. If you are married you have to decide whether to file a joint or separate return. If there is any doubt about whether or not you are married in the eyes of the Bureau of Internal Revenue,

Here's How To Tell Which Form To Use If Your Income Was Less Than $5000

(If you file a joint return, include wife's income and deductions.)

1. Do you have deductions for contributions, interest, medical expenses, etc. which total more than 10% of gross income? (Articles 9 and 10 explain all about these deductions.)
If your answer is "Yes" stop right here. You should file on Long Form 1040. If answer is "No" go to the next question.
2. Did you have more than $100 income from dividends, interest or wages not shown on a Withholding Statement?
If your answer is "Yes" go no further. You should file on Short Form 1040. If answer is "No" go to the next question.
3. Did you have any income besides wages, dividends and interest?
If your answer is "Yes" go no further. You should file on Short Form 1040. If answer is "No" go to the next question.
4. Do you have any deductible travel expenses?
(Fourth article explains travel deductions.) If answer is "Yes" you should file on Short Form 1040. If your answer "No" use Form 1040A.

dents or others who worked part time or in summer during the year. And you can still claim your dependents even though they file a return to get back the tax withheld on earnings of less than $600.

EVERYONE MAKING OVER $5000 A YEAR MUST FILE ON LONG FORM 1040.

the official instructions on page 3 make the rules clear.

In all but a few isolated cases it is advantageous to file the joint return. The outstanding exception is when both husband and wife have large incomes and capital losses are involved. This will be fully explained in the seventh article dealing in detail with reporting capital gains and losses.

The third article tomorrow deals with the all-important subject of claiming exemptions.

Tax Primer Q. & A.

Q. I earned $500 in 1951 and received $240 from the Veterans Administration as a disability payment. Must I file a return?

A. No, your taxable income was only $500 so you are not required to file a return. However, if any tax was withheld from the $500, file a return and the tax will be refunded to you.

Q. Does the Collector's office charge for giving tax advice?

A. The Collector's office is supposed to answer your tax questions without charge.

Q. My wife and I are living apart. May we file a joint return?

A. Yes, so long as you were not separated in 1951 by court order. Remember, both of you must sign the return.

Q. My wife and I split up in April, 1951, and in January, 1952, we were divorced. May we file a joint return?

A. Yes, because you were not legally separated or divorced in 1951. Keep in mind, however, that each must include his income in the joint return and is liable for the whole tax.

Q. My husband died in January, 1951. May I file a joint return?

A. Yes, provided you did not re-marry in 1951. If you re-married, then you can file a joint return with your present husband.

THOSE IN UNIFORM

KITZINGEN, Germany—Private First Class Norman E. Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Siddall of Cooks, Michigan, helped the 5th Field Artillery Battalion celebrate its 175th anniversary recently at Kitzingen, Germany.

Private First Class Hart, who is serving with "A" Battery, 5th Field Artillery Battalion, actively participated in the festivities of the day. The program on the first day included competitions in athletic and military events. In the morning of the second day a parade was held after which Brigadier General Eric S. Molitor, Commanding General, 1st Infantry Division Artillery, presented the trophies to the individual winners and to "B" Battery a plaque and Honor Battery Streamer.

The record of the 5th Field Artillery Battalion is undoubtedly the finest in the US Army today and the only "D" Battery in it is the senior organization of this battalion and was formed in 1776 by Alexander Hamilton. With 175 years of unbroken service "D" Battery can trace its history back to the Revolutionary War with active participation and honor for every major action in our nation's history. It is two years older than our nation and in 1784 was the only active unit in the US Army. Today the 5th Field Artillery Battalion is the medium artillery firepower of the famous 1st Infantry Division.

Charles E. Baker, Airman, U. S. N. A. F., has returned to Z-I-A "Lighter Than Air" Squad base at Weeksville, N. C. He was assigned to this unit upon completion of Aviation Ordnance School Class A which he attended in Jacksonville, Fla., the past six months. He will be engaged in anti sub patrol work off the Atlantic coast.

Worn-Out Land Made Virgin Soil By Yellow Powder

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
PHILADELPHIA—(P)—Worn-out land is changed into structurally virgin soil by a new chemical discovery announced to the American association for the advancement of science.

It is a yellow, synthetic powder, which literally changes the soil itself. It is not a fertilizer, but crops grow from 20 to 100 percent higher yields. It makes better baseball diamonds, stops erosion, and promotes cheaper road-building.

Holds Moisture

This magic powder is made of the same stuff — acrilonitriles — which make the latest synthetic suits and dresses, the kind that won't wrinkle when wet.

The powder has an electrical attraction for clay in the soil. This attraction produces chains of little particles, which roll up like tiny sponges and hold their form regardless of rain. Muck, hard-baked soil, sandy soil all take on the structure of rich loam.

The increased production comes from a better soil, that holds much more water, more air, and is easy to cultivate.

This powder does the same thing as peat moss and composts. Unlike them, bacteria don't eat it and it lasts many times longer. It is cheaper. Two pounds of powder does the soil work of 200 pounds of peat moss or 500 pounds of commercial compost.

The synthetic was made by a team of Monsanto chemical company scientists, after years of study to solve a puzzle of an Indiana farm where one plot was much more fertile than others which had the same richness in fertilizers. Soil structure was the difference.

The Monsanto men tried this soil magic on a baseball infield. They said it changed the ground so that balls took no bad hops, sliding to a base was easier.

Erosion Prevented

They showed a handful of it soaking wet. When the hand squeezed clear water ran out, and the wet material became spongy. On highway banks, levees, and newly made lawns the powder prevented almost all erosion and speeded the growth of grasses to form a permanent sod.

They said it would lower irrigation costs, and probably reclaim alkali lands. It is good for home gardens, making spading easy, and for potted plants and green houses.

Not all the potential uses have been tried. The synthetic will not be offered for sale until 1953. Meanwhile the Monsanto announcement said universities, federal and state agencies and institutions, totalling 80, are testing it.

The powder is named Krillium, rhyming with the wildflower, trillium.
